Sugar Companies 'Haven't

The Santa Ana Sugar company and the Southern California Sugar company "haven't a peg on which to hang their hats" in the matter of their attempt to recover tax money paid into the Santa Ana high school district, in the opinion of District Attorney A. P. Nelson, as expressed today.

The two companies yesterday filed with the board of supervisors a letter asking a refund of amounts paid, on the ground that the board of supervisors erred when, in August, 1921, it accepted the recommendation of R. P. Mitchell, county school superintendent, that the Delhi grammar school district and other grammar school districts be constituted as part of the Santa Ana high school district.

Creation of the high school district was under a bill introduced by State Senator Walter Eden of this city and adopted by the state legislature, requiring all grammar schools of the state to be annexed to high school districts.

The Santa Ana Sugar company asks a refund of $2,358.31 and the Southern California $692.20. In effect the sugar companies alleged that they were the victims of "taxation without representation."

Cites Legal Experts
According to the letter, which is signed by C. A. Johnson, manager of Orange county interests of the Holly Sugar corporation, attorneys for the organization have declared null and void the act under which the district was created. They maintain that it is contrary to article 13 of section 1 of the constitution which, provides the method for levying taxes.

As confirming his opinion that the companies have no foundation for intimating that the act is unconstitutional, Nelson pointed out that the law firm of O'Melveny, Milliken and Teller, recognized attorneys for bond buying firms, had examined proceedings in the recent bond election in the high school district and had given their approval as to the legality. Nelson said that before the election for the bonds was called he sent Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wellin to Los Angeles to consult with the prominent law firm.

"I have not had opportunity to investigate points made by the sugar companies, but off-hand, I would say that they have no legal grounds on which to force a refund of the taxes paid under protest," said Nelson today.

POINTS TO DECISION

Nelson also pointed to a recent decision of the supreme court in the matter of selection of "justices" for a union high school district at San Rafael as virtually declaring legal the act under which the local high school district was organized. The issue of $250,000 bonds voted in the district December 9, last, will be offered for sale in the immediate future, J. A. Cranston, superintendent of Santa Ana schools, stated. It was pointed out that following receipt of bids, bond attorneys would pass on all proceedings in connection with the formation of the district and election proceedings.

AIMS POISON PLOT AT 2 SCHOOL GIRLS

WAUKESHA, Wis., Dec. 28.—Officials today obtained a John Doe warrant for the arrest of a "poisoner" alleged to have attempted to kill two school children with carbolic acid.

Foreign Capitalists Grab Off Rich Mexican Oil Lands

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28.—An international scramble for Mexico's vast oil reserves reached a climax today when British, French, Belgian and Italian capitalists, secured one of the largest petroleum contract concessions ever issued by the Mexican government.

Colonel J. L. O'Connor, president of the American Foreign Oil corporation, representing entirely foreign capital, signed the contract whereby his company will have the exclusive rights of boring and working all federal zones covering all rivers and lagoons.

The Mexican government will receive forty per cent of the production against which no duties or taxes will be assessed.

MARSHFIELD, Wis., Dec. 28.—Mrs. James Chapman died today as the result of injuries received when a bomb wrapped as a Christmas present exploded. Her husband is not expected to live, due to injuries from the blast.

Chapman, chairman of the town of Cameron and head of the Wood county board, received the package late Wednesday. He unwrapped it, with his wife, eager to see the contents, nearly by.

The machine exploded when the wrapping paper was removed, releasing a rubber band contrivance which set off the blast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Charles Miller, whom police said was known to them as an I. W. W. leader, was taken into custody here today as a result of the round up of suspicious characters ordered following threats of dynamite outrages here.

In his possession, police announced, they found a telegram dated today and sent from Fresno I. W. W. headquarters directing him to move a body of I. W. W. to the Hetch Hetchy valley water project and to the Southern California Edison company's Big Creek works for "job action."

The men, according to the telegram, were to take with them "their supplies."

Police questioned Miller closely as to the meaning of the words "job action" and "their supplies" but secured no enlightenment from him.

SIX TRAINMEN HURT AS FREIGHTS CRASH

QUINCY, Calif., Dec. 28.—Six men were reported injured, two seriously, as a result of a head-on collision between two Western Pacific freight trains, one-half mile west of Quincy Junction early today.

The injured were members of the train crews. They were brought to a hospital here.

The collision occurred, according to reports to the railroad company when the crew of regular freight train Number 61 failed to wait for an extra eastbound freight train at Quincy Junction, as ordered.

NEGRO CONFESSES IN BRUTAL DEATH CASE

ORANGE, N. J., Dec. 28.—William Battles, 19, a negro, today confessed to having murdered Mrs. Eleanor L. Brigham, 34, formerly of San Francisco, who was found strangled to death in the fruit cellar of her fashionable Father Terrace home here last night, police announced.

Captain Thomas H. Ryan of the local police, declared that Battles, who worked about the Brigham place, made the confession after being grilled for about an hour.

Mrs. Brigham was killed while her three children lay upstairs.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—"Mother will be married tomorrow," Murriel McCormick, granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, told close friends today.

Mrs. McCormick, who was divorced from the head of the Harvester company a year ago, will marry Edward Krenn, a Swiss architect, these reports stated.

Muriel, accompanied by her brother, Fowler, called on Charles S. Cutting, attorney for their mother, today and were reported to have asked the counsel if there was not some way the wedding could be prevented.

Muriel's credited statement was made after leaving Cutting's office. She has been outspoken in her opposition to the match.

Since the granting of the McCormick divorce the Harvester king has become the husband of Ganna Walska, opera star. This marriage occurred in France and the couple are now planning to return to the United States where the noted singer hopes to arrange for a tour of the principal cities.

At the time of their father's second marriage the children made no out-spoken objections and their opposition to their mother's second venture into the matrimonial fields came as a distinct surprise to Gold Coast society folk.

L. A. PASTORS HALT FIGHT ON ARBUCKLE

(United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—Action by the Ministerial Union of Los Angeles to have a special city law put through under which Patty Arbuckle's films could be barred, has been dropped, it was learned today.

The committee appointed to handle the matter has decided not to take immediate action, it was said. An ordinance which will cover the question is being discussed, and an attempt may be made to introduce later on, it is declared.

The ministers were informed by Councilman Allen that permission would not be given them to appear before the council and discuss the matter, inasmuch as there is no ordinance now before the council and hence discussion would be extraneous.

CONGRESS OF MOTHERS CHIEF DEFENDS ARBUCKLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Mrs. George Wale, president of the Congress of Mothers here, came to the defense of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle today.

She issued a statement pleading that he be given a fair chance to make good.

Her action followed action of the executive committee of the San Francisco District of the State Federation of Women's Clubs in condemning the action of Will Hays, movie dictator, in reinstating Arbuckle.

DANIELS SAYS NAVAL SCRAPPING FAILURE

WICHITA, Dec. 28.—What he termed the failure of the disarmament conference held in Washington some time ago, was stressed here Tuesday by Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy. Mr. Daniels, addressing a meeting of the Knife and Fork club, discussed various national and international issues.

"Recent events," Mr. Daniels said, "demonstrate that the disarmament conference failed in its purpose, England and Japan, it would appear, got the best of the United States in the agreement to scrap restrictions upon construction of light vessels and aircraft."

"The ideal American navy must be a well balanced navy, built to correspond with the fighting strength of other navies."

For Louisiana Authorities

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 28.—Release on bail today was denied Dr. B. M. McKoin, former mayor of Mer Rouge, La., arrested and held here on the charge of Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana, that he had part in the murder of two men by a masked mob at Mer Rouge last August.

Chief Judge Gorter and Judges Bond and Stein, sitting to hear habeas corpus proceedings, started by Attorney Robert H. Garman and Dr. Hugh H. Young, remanded Dr. McKoin to the custody of the police until the Louisiana authorities might have an opportunity to present extradition papers.

A telegram from Governor Parker to State's Attorney Robert G. Leach today asked that such action be taken.

DEPUTY DENIES PLOT TO FREE PRISONER

(United Press Leased Wire)
EL CENTRO, Calif., Dec. 28.—D. P. Bates, Fresno policeman, held in the Calexico jail on suspicion of assisting a prisoner to escape, today pleaded his ignorance of the fact that crossing the international line with a prisoner released him.

Police Chief Joe Hardwick of Calexico declares that as soon as a formal charge is filed in the superior court later today, Bates will be removed to the county jail and his bonds set.

Bates is accused of assisting David Polin, wanted in Fresno for bigamy, to escape when the two crossed the Mexican boundary yesterday. Polin was re-captured and is awaiting the arrival of more Fresno officers to be sent again to Fresno.

Bates declared he turned back after receiving orders from Fresno to bring back an automobile. Polin claims his, and which was taken at the arrest of Polin to Fresno.

Police refused to allow newspaper men to talk with Bates today.

DECISION HINDERS DRY LAW OFFICERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Powers of the police in enforcement of the Wright prohibition act in San Francisco were considerably curtailed today through an opinion rendered by District Attorney Brady.

He instructed the police that they could not raid a place without direct information that liquor was kept there or a search warrant.

Automobiles, he ruled, cannot be stopped except by search warrant or direct evidence that they carry liquor and the same restrictions surround search of persons.

ROWELL TO QUIT AS RAIL COMMISSIONER

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—Chester Rowell, state railroad commissioner, today was on record as planning to resign office before Governor-elect Richardson takes office in January so that Governor Stephens can name his successor. He intends to write for magazines for some time then go to Europe and possibly on a trip around the world.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—Charged with writing a whiskey prescription in violation of federal restrictions, Dr. Arthur H. Domann, of Orange, today had his permission to write whiskey prescriptions withdrawn.

MEDDLING IS CHARGED TO SENATOR

President, In Letter to Lodge, Attack Plans for Conference

(United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—President Harding today announced his opposition to the passage by the senate of the Borah resolution, requesting the executive to call an international economic and armament limitation conference.

The president declared that the passage of the Borah resolution was undesirable "because of the false impressions which may be conveyed to Europe and even more undesirable because of the wrong impression it conveys to our own people."

His position was revealed in a letter to Senator Lodge, administration leader, which Lodge had read to the senate when it met today.

Wants European Views.
It would be futile to call such a conference as proposed by Borah until the executive had learned whether such a move would be welcomed by the other nations, Harding said.

If congress desires to be helpful in the present situation, he said, it should modify the laws which prevent American representation on the reparations commission and prohibit the American debt commission from granting more liberal funding terms to America's World War debtors.

A settlement of the reparations question, "must underlie any economic rehabilitation of Europe," Harding said, but he emphatically declared that the United States would never say to one nation what it should pay or to another what it should accept.

Attacks Borah's Backers.

In the letter, which attacked the backers of the Borah resolution rather pointedly, the president indicated that he resented the Idaho senator's move on the ground that it seeks to assume the executive branch of the government "was not fully alive to the world situation which is of deep concern to the United States."

The president's letter follows: "My Dear Senator Lodge: Replying to your inquiry relative to the proposed amendment to the pending naval bill, authorizing and requesting the president to call an economic conference to deal with conditions in the war-torn nations of Europe, I write to say that I know of no prohibition against such an expression on the part of congress, but I do frankly question the desirability of such an expression. I think it is undesirable because of the false impressions which may be conveyed thereby to Europe and even more undesirable because of the wrong impression it conveys to our own people."

Resents Accusations.
"On the face of things, it is equivalent to saying that the executive branch of the government which is charged with the conduct of foreign relations, is not fully alive to a world situation which is of deep concern to the United States. As a matter of fact, the European situation has been given most thorough and thoughtful consideration for many months. Without questioning the good faith of the proposal, I am very sure it would have been more seemly and the action of the congress could be taken much more intelligently if proper inquiry had been made of the state department relative to the situation in which we are trying to be helpful."

"Of necessity the communications of the state department relative to delicate matters among nations cannot be bulletined from day to day, but the situation is never withheld from members of congress who choose to inquire for confidential information in a spirit of co-operation. Such inquiry would have revealed the futility of any conference call until it is understood that such a conference would be welcomed by the nations concerned. Within the limits of discussion which the expressed will of congress compels this government to impose."

Opposes Reservations.
"In ratifying the treaty of peace with Germany, the senate made a reservation that the United States

20 Year Masquerade By Underworld Woman Is Revealed By Death

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 28.—Neil Pickrell, who masqueraded as a man for twenty years, and who was a familiar figure in Seattle's underworld during that time, died last night at a hospital here, bringing to a close one of the most remarkable careers in the police annals of the city.

When not in the hands of the police—she was arrested for about everything from disorderly conduct to highway robbery—Neil drove a truck, worked in a pool-gated bar and engaged in other masculine pursuits. The body will be cremated Saturday after funeral services at a local mortuary.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 28.—Mrs. H. L. Eads, Brownsville, Nebraska, was instantly killed, her husband slightly injured; Eads' sister, Gladys, a David City school teacher, and his father, E. L. Eads, Auburn, Neb., probably fatally injured when an automobile driven by H. L. Eads collided with another machine here today.

Although the second car, containing C. W. Darraugh and H. J. Josephs, was turned over twice by the force of the collision, neither of the occupants was injured.

USE TRUCKS TO CARRY APPEAL FOR SLAYER

(United Press Leased Wire)
LONDON, Dec. 28.—Appeal of Frederick Edward Bywaters, 20 year old naval steward, against sentence of death for murder of his sweetheart's husband, went to the home secretary today, backed by monster petitions containing more than a million signatures.

Two auto trucks were required to carry the letter to the home office. Bywaters was sentenced jointly with Mrs. Percy Thompson, eight years his senior, for murder of her husband, October 4. She is about to become a mother and also appealed but with few petitions. The lord chief justice refused to consider a joint plea for clemency earlier in the month.

The couple will be hanged together in Pentonville jail, North London, unless Bywater's appeal is successful. Women, attracted by his youth and by certain disclosures during the trial, started the huge round robin petitions which have gathered thousands of names for some time. They have been in circulation Mrs. Bywaters, aged mother of the condemned youth, herself, secured 15,000 names.

SEIZE THREE DOPE SUSPECTS IN RAID

(United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—After watching a house on Holmes street for several weeks while a long train of expensive automobiles came and went daily, police today raided the place, which they declare to be one of the largest "dope headquarters" in Los Angeles, seized a quantity of narcotics and arrested three men.

Those under arrest are R. J. Cordova, J. W. Henry and A. J. Sheland.

Three other suspected "dope" peddlers were arrested near the Plaza early today. All had drugs on their person. They gave their names as Francisco Corral, Julio Urrea, and Aloph Telles.

STRUGGLE OVER OIL ZONE BRINGS CRISIS

Greeks Plan New Offensive

(Copyright, 1922, by United Press)
LONDON, Dec. 28.—Britain rushed a fleet to Constantinople today to "influence the Turks toward peace."

The Admiralty announced that Admiral Brock's squadron was steaming from Malta, the British naval base in the Mediterranean, full speed for Constantinople.

This action was taken at a time when the Turks at the Lausanne conference were defying the British and demanding that the rich Mosul oil basin be surrendered.

In announcing the fleet had been dispatched, the Admiralty stated it was being sent as a precautionary measure, "a sort of moral influence toward peace."

The British fleet was sent to Constantinople today because this country knows it is no use to argue with the Turk without something at hand with which to back up the argument, it was learned from an authoritative source.

It is believed that the fleet, augmented by Balkan solidarity against Angorists, will persuade the Turks to "listen to reason," it was declared.

AMERICA BACKS BRITISH IN CLASH WITH TURKS

USANNE, Dec. 28.—The United States supported the allies against the Turks today as the Lausanne conference neared the breaking point.

Open defiance of Marquis Curzon's warning that further efforts on the part of Turkey to secure the Mosul oil fields would lead to a breakdown of the parley, was voiced by Ismet Pasha, when the conference opened.

This was followed by announcement that the Turks would not give ground on capitulations and that they refused to have judges, appointed by The Hague court, sit with Turkish judges where foreign litigation was involved.

France Gives Support

France backed Britain in this matter, Minister Barriere declaring he was amazed at Ismet Pasha's declaration that such mixed tribunals were worse than original capitulations. He warned the Turks they had taken up position "on ground where the allies could not meet them."

Richard Washburn Child, American observer, then voiced the United States support of allied demands for proper guarantees. The American ambassador to Rome demanded Turkey's right to abolish capitulation of 1914 without consent of the signatories.

"The United States," Child said, "considers her rights under the capitulations still exist."

Insists On Rights
Likewise, he said, those American citizens who went to Turkey and established property and invested capital under the capitulations have a continued right to guarantees.

The Turks seek abolition of capitulations because of their victory over the Greeks and refuse guarantees demanded by the allies.

The conference was considered likely to break up at any minute.

GREKS PLAN FOR NEW OFFENSIVE IN THRACE

ATHENS, Dec. 28.—The Greek government today planned to rush 100,000 troops to Eastern Thrace to fight the Turks in event of a breakdown of the Lausanne conference. General Plastiras is to be sent to the frontier next week.

RAP COMEDIAN IN WIRE SENT WILL HAYS

Roscoe Arbuckle, film comedian, has utterly discredited himself as a comedian for the youth of the country and should be barred from the silver screen for all time, in the opinion of the Ministerial Association of Santa Ana, which has sent a vigorous protest to Will Hays, director-general of the moving picture industry, who has announced his intention of reinstating Arbuckle.

"We believe with Will Hays that any man is entitled to a fair chance to redeem himself from his mistakes and moral lapses," says a resolution adopted by the association here, "and we would gladly help Mr. Arbuckle do this."

Say Comedian Disqualified
"In our judgment, however, his connection with and participation in that now famous, but disgraceful and repulsive, orgy in the St. Francis hotel, San Francisco, has utterly disqualified him as an entertainer for our youth."

"His appearance on the screen is but to advertise that infamous party, and will tend to weaken the moral standards of our children."

Protest Reinstatement.
"Therefore, we protest against Arbuckle's reinstatement and, in the interests of the boys and girls of America, respectfully and earnestly urge the management of all theaters to decline to display Roscoe Arbuckle films."

In addition to sending copies of the resolution to Hays, the Ministerial association urged the managers of Santa Ana theaters to refrain from listing Arbuckle pictures.

PLAN TO LEAVE FOR CONCLAVE IN IMPERIAL

Representatives of the Orange county farm bureau as delegates to the regional directors' meeting of the seven Southern California counties at El Centro next Saturday will leave here tomorrow, R. D. Flaherty, secretary-manager of the bureau, said today.

Dr. J. R. Schofield, president of the Orange county farm bureau; John Osterman, vice president; Aaron Buchheim, director; J. A. Smiley, director; Flaherty; Edwin F. Whedon, who succeeds Flaherty January 2; and H. E. Wahlberg, farm advisor, are expected to make the trip.

Directors of the Region No. 1 of the California farm bureau meet once every seven weeks in alternate counties.

In an effort to supply a long felt want of the Orange county citrus grower, Wahlberg will consult with Ed Garthwaite, Imperial county farm advisor, and several alfalfa seed growers at El Centro as to the possibility of sending alfalfa straw at a reasonable expense as fertilizer to growers in this county.

"Alfalfa straw contains two per cent nitrogen," Wahlberg said today. "Whereas bean straw only analyzes 1 1/2 per cent."

"Alfalfa straw at present is a waste product. If we can adjust transportation charges to a reasonable basis, the straw undoubtedly will be used as fertilizer here in great quantities."

Whether Orange county in company with North San Diego, Riverside and San Bernardino counties shall organize a grain exchange similar to the California exchange will be decided, it was expected today, at the meeting at El Centro.

"Other than these counties," Flaherty said, "all grain territory tributary to Los Angeles is organized."

"Should this region organize it would affiliate with the California farm bureau exchange, of which Alex Johnson is secretary."

"Activities of the Imperial county farm bureau exchange will be reviewed at the meeting."

"F. E. Morgan, general manager of the farm bureau grain department, will probably join in the discussion."

Chance for Santa To Get Solid With This Bellhop at Inn

The bellhop at St. Ann's Inn has been converted to the marvels accomplished by publicity. Here's how:

Just before Christmas, W. P. Overbay, day clerk at the inn, addressed a note to Santa Claus asking for a glass top for his desk. Almost magically the glass top appeared Christmas morning with the compliments of the hotel trustees in cahoots with Santa Claus.

"Now," said the bellhop, "don't you think the hotel would look even more up-to-the-mark if I wore a uniform, a simple gray uniform with a pill-box hat? Lots of our guests mistake me for the boss's small son because I wear ordinary street clothes while on duty."

"Don't you think you could get Santa Claus to work over time this year in order to get me that uniform?"

Santa Claus, could you refuse?

AGED WAR VETERAN'S MIND HELD DERANGED

The mind of John Conrad, 82, Civil War veteran, residing at 323 East Philadelphia street, Anaheim, caused him to renege and revision the stirring days of '61-'65, according to authorities, who today issued a warrant for his arrest on the grounds of insanity.

Conrad, it was said, had been dismissed from the soldier's home at Sawtelle, when, believing that he was defending himself from a "rebel," he stabbed a fellow soldier there. He has been living at Anaheim since then, and has frightened his wife and neighbors by carrying and displaying the knife with which he is said to have done the cutting, according to the complaint.

He is under the delusion, officials claim, that attempts are being made by "enemy forces" on his life.

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—The 70,000 cubic meter Zeppelin now being built for the United States navy at Friedrichshafen, in Southern Germany, will attempt to complete the flight to its hangar at Lakehurst in seventy hours.

This will include actual flying time from the Zeppelin works in Friedrichshafen, over Spain, where a short stop will probably be made, thence across the Atlantic to Lakehurst.

The giant ship will be propelled by six motors, with a total of 1200 horsepower. A commission of American naval experts will make the flight from Germany to the United States aboard the ship.

Story of Welfare Work In Great War Told in "Service With Fighting Men"

Documented Record for American Contributors of the Millions Devoted to Soldiers' and Sailors' Welfare

By HUNT LEIGH

AN accounting to the millions of American contributors of $167,118,181.25 for welfare work in the World War by the National War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Association has just been made.

"Service with Fighting Men," a report in two volumes of 1,800 pages, just issued, was prepared under the supervision of an editorial board of which William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States is chairman.

In the foreword Chief Justice Taft refers to the work as "one of the greatest achievements of peace in all the history of human warfare." He also pays eloquent tribute to Dr. John R. Mott, General Secretary of the International Committee, Y. M. C. A., and of the National War Work Council, as one who "would seem to have been trained by Providence to do this. . . Leaders in centers of influence the world over have a familiarity with his genius and capacity. . . No man knew so well as he did, when we were brought into the war, the problem we would have to meet."

A Study of Principle and Philosophy

The editors present a thorough study of the principle and philosophy of all welfare work, in peace and war, not only a record but a guide. Every important statement has been based on documentary evidence and every phase of program and effort presented with frankness and without self-glorification or excuse.

A study of this history brings revelation of the magnitude and success of the American public's effort to serve not only its own soldiers and sailors but those on many other fronts and millions of prisoners of war. Because it was the largest of the welfare organizations, the service of the American Young Men's Christian Association provides the chief exhibit in this effort. As Chief Justice Taft states, this organization not only served between four and five millions of American soldiers and sailors at home and overseas, but, alone among American welfare societies ministered to not less than nineteen millions of the soldiers of the Allied Armies and extended its helpful activities to over five millions of prisoners of war. Because of this service by the

WOMAN HITS AT CITATION IN ZONING CASE

Despite vigorous protests on the part of the defendant and her husband, Mrs. Mary Haley, owner of property at the corner of Main street and Washington avenue, is being erected in alleged violation of the city zoning ordinance, was cited to appear before City Recorder W. F. Heathman January 3 at 10 a. m. for arraignment on criminal charges brought yesterday by William White, property owner in that section.

When the case comes up for trial, the date of which will be set at the arraignment, the court. It was stated will be called upon virtually to decide the validity of the zoning ordinance. It was considered a foregone conclusion that the case would be carried to higher court, should the defendant be found guilty.

Workmen, for whom John Doe warrants were issued yesterday, will be called to answer at the same time, although it was intimated that their cases would not be prosecuted.

Haley secured a permit from City Building Inspector W. S. Decker. The permit was subsequently revoked, and a zoning ordinance passed which prohibited the building of business structures on the lot owned by Mrs. Haley. From the start the Haleys had intended that since they secured their permit before the ordinance was passed, they were not affected by it.

When City Marshal Rogers attempted to serve the warrant on Mrs. Haley, Haley remonstrated with him, attempting to show that the warrant did not authorize arrest. Finally, when Rogers had pointed out that a warrant must be served, right or wrong, Mrs. Haley was arrested. She was released on her own recognizance.

RAISE FUND TO BRING LITTLE GIRL HERE

BY LAUREN HURD.

Back in Homer, La., there is a little girl, eight years old, without shoes, with few clothes, penniless, and without a home.

Her father, E. L. Willis, is in the county jail, awaiting trial on charges of embezzlement. Her mother, working by the day in Santa Ana, is using all the money she earns to pay attorneys to defend the husband.

This pitiful case, of an innocent child, suffering for the alleged misdeeds of a father, was brought to light today when Willis' fellow prisoners announced that a purse of $21 had been collected in an effort to provide railroad fare for the little miss, that she might come to Santa Ana to join her mother.

Child Loses Home

When Willis was extradited from Louisiana several weeks ago, he had only enough money for his wife's railroad fare. The child was left with persons at Homer who promised to care for her. Yesterday came the word that the girl had been turned out of the home, and left destitute, without friends—hundreds of miles from her parents—at the mercy of the world.

Now mark you, who say that there is no good in the worst of us. Scarcely had the tidings been circulated through the jail, when a group started the rescue fund. In an incredibly short time $15 had been raised in No. 1 tank. No. 2 tank soon brought the total to $21. Members of the felony group have promised additional assistance. Jailer Theo. Lacy, Sheriff C. E. Jackson, Assistant Jailer Joe Irvine and Deputy C. M. Wood have each subscribed to the fund.

At least $50 will be required for the necessary railroad fare and expenses.

"Here is a chance for benevolent persons in Santa Ana to assist in a real benefaction," Lacy said. "Money is limited with prisoners. It is doubtful if the entire sum can be realized without the aid of outsiders. This child was innocent. She should not suffer."

"If any person will make a contribution to assist in carrying out this mission of mercy, it will be appreciated."

Any donations, however small, will assist materially. Gifts may be left with jail officials, at the sheriff's office, or with members of The Register news force.

JOBS FOR 1000 MEN

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 28.—Employment was given to more than 1000 men when the rail mills of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company opened at Pueblo yesterday, according to company announcement. The mills have been shut down for the last several months.

Post offices were established in 1464.

should not be represented on the reparations commission without consent of congress and no such consent has been given. Moreover, in creating the World War debt funding commission that body was restricted to explicit terms for rates of interest and ultimate time of payment.

"If congress really means to facilitate the task of the government in dealing with the European situation, the first practical step would be to free the hands of the commission that helpful negotiations may be undertaken."

"It is quite generally accepted that the adjustment of the question of reparations cannot be settled without the consent of governments concerned. The United States cannot assume to say to one nation what it shall pay in reparations, nor to another nation what it shall accept."

Separate Questions
"In discussions with foreign governments, the previous administration and the present administration have insisted that the question of European debts to the United States is distinct and apart from the question of reparations, but European nations held a contrary view, and it is wholly inconsistent to invite a conference for the consideration of questions in dealing with which the government is denied all authority by act of congress."

"So far as the limitation of land armaments is concerned there seems to be at this time no more promising prospect of accomplishment than when the conference was held in Washington a year ago."

The president said limitation of auxiliary craft might well wait on ratification of the Washington treaties.

JOHNSON SPLITS WITH BORAH ON AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Senator Hiram Johnson, new leader of the senate irreconcilables, was to swing into action today against Senator Borah's proposal for an American invitation to the world to bring its economic troubles here for settlement.

Johnson, in a speech to the senate, was expected to brand the Borah plan as a long step in the direction of American membership in the league of nations, or if not that, a permanent entanglement in the political affairs of Europe.

Johnson and other irreconcilables who were closely associated with Borah in the Versailles treaty have broken with him on his new proposal so that the Idaho senator now faces opposition from both the regular G. O. P. and his old irreconcilable friends.

With Johnson scheduled to speak in opposition and Senator McNary, Oregon, in favor of the Borah amendment, administration leaders were carefully counting the votes they can muster if a fight comes over the point of order they will raise against Borah.

FINDS LONG LOST SISTER

WEST HAMPTON, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Miss Eloise Poundings was scanning the telephone book when she saw the name of Mrs. Mildred Schmitterman. A telephone call proved the latter to be Miss Poundings' long lost sister.

ABRAMS TOO GENEROUS

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Miss Louise Wheelan was enjoined from accepting auto rides and presents from Isaac Abrams, on petition of Mrs. Abrams.

A bag of hot salt, applied to the face, is excellent for toothache.

Life presented a dreary prospect for Samuel Hansen, convicted of alleged land deed forgery, whose appealed case will come before the appellate court within the next few months.

Unable to procure $5,000 bail, he was confined in the county jail, awaiting the higher court's review of the case. Should he obtain bail, or should the higher court reverse the verdict of a jury which found him guilty of forging deeds to eleven acres of land at Fairview, he will face immediate arrest by Los Angeles, Modesto and possibly Long Beach authorities, it was stated today.

The warrant issued by the Los Angeles district attorney came as a surprise today. The alleged forging of a mortgage to land in the city of Los Angeles is charged. Hansen had previously been indicted by the grand jury of Stanislaus county for land deed forging parallel in many respects to the case tried here.

ZITA SELLS GEMS

VIENNA, Dec. 28.—According to Vienna papers, ex-Empress Zita has lately been reduced to such financial straits that she is obliged to sell some more of the Austrian crown jewels which the former imperial family took with them into exile.

At present two of the most valuable diamonds—the renowned "Badener" and the still larger "Frankfurter," one of the most precious stones in existence—are said to be up for sale. Owing to the present stagnation in the international jewel trade, prospective buyers for such valuable stones have so far been scarce.

HEALTH TALK No. 2

By J. G. Kelly, D. C.

"What can Chiropactic do
for me?" is a question asked me daily. I never attempt to give an answer without first making a careful examination of the spine to determine whether nerve pressure is causing the sickness. If I find this nerve pressure—the CAUSE of the trouble—then I advise Chiropactic Adjustments.

"Do you think you can get me well?" is the next question asked. I know there is within the body, when supplied with food, everything necessary to enable the body to maintain perfect health. The trouble is that some part of the human machine is not working as it should, because it is not receiving its share of operative power. This power is NERVE FORCE, and it should be delivered to all parts of the body by the nerves.

Chiropactic Adjustments get sick people well by making it possible for the nerves to do their share of work imposed upon them. I simply release
the pressure which is shutting off the full flow of nerve current to the part of your body affected. This removes the CAUSE of your trouble, and everyone knows that once the cause of sickness is corrected, health will follow.

I want the opportunity of answering YOUR questions,
that you may understand WHY Chiropactic is the best way to health. Consultation is free.

NEWS BRIEFS

Fullerton has a population of 9,000, according to estimates based upon the number of gas meters

there. It was learned here today.

The city has 2700 meters. Three and a half persons to a meter is the standard figure. According to the last census report in 1920, Fullerton had a population of 4500.

Since that time the city is believed to have more than doubled in population.

Directors of the social and com-

mmercial club organized here two years ago in contemplation of taking over rooms in the proposed new First National bank building here have voted to disorganize

the club. The initial payment of $5 will be returned after January

1 to members who apply for the refund. Request for the refund should be made with Charles F.

Smith, secretary. Repayments

will include interest.

The Orange County Inter-denominational Holiness association will hold an all-day meeting tomorrow

at the First Methodist church of Orange. The Rev. Charles Babcock of the First Nazarene church,

Los Angeles, will preach at 11 a.

m. and at 2 and 7 p. m.

District committeemen of the

Anaheim district of the Orange county council of Boy Scouts of America will meet tonight at the Elks' club, Anaheim, at 6:30 o'clock with George W. Sloop presiding to hear reports and elect officers. It was announced here today.

Changes at the courthouse about

January 2 will include the removal of the office of J. C. Lamb, county tax collector, from its present quarters to occupy space in the Medical building on North Main street, it was learned today.

That he was resting better and had a slightly lowered temperature

was the encouraging report issued today from the home of 12-year-old

Roland McKenna, who was seriously injured Christmas morning

when the automobile in which he was riding, crashed into another

car on the Irvine highway.

To elect officers, committeemen

of the Santa Ana district of the Orange county council of Boy

Scouts of America will meet tomorrow noon at James's cafe here with M. B. Wellington presiding.

It was announced today. Fifty district committeemen are expected to attend, as the meeting is announced as one of the most important of the year. Fred New-comb, chairman of the nominating committee, will give his report.

Other reports will be heard.

It rained a little here today—

barely a trace, up to noon. This,

however, was merely a foretaste of what might be expected later, according to the weather man, who promised rain tonight and tomorrow.

Registrations for the tractor

school to be held at O. P. Rust's place near Anaheim from January

29 to February 3 already are reaching the farm bureau office here.

W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, said today. The tractor school will consist of a course of lectures,

demonstrations, and practice work

on adjusting, repairing and overhauling. About two hours each day will be spent in lecture demonstration, covering such subjects as gas engine parts and principles of operation, fuels, carburetor, magne-

tos, cooling systems, lubrication

and tractor operation in all details.

PLEAD FOR SLAYER

LONDON, Dec. 28.—Seven hundred thousand persons throughout

England have signed a petition for clemency for Frederick Ed-ard, found guilty, with Mrs. Edith Thompson, of murdering the latter's husband. The petition

will be presented to Home Secretary W. C. Bridgeman when final appeal to save Bywaters from hanging will be made.

HAMBURG, Dec. 28.—The 5,000

ton steamer Heinrich Kayser, New York to Bremen, with a crew of 44, has been given up for lost. She was last sighted December 6 off

Newfoundland, where she reported

BRIDE, VICTIM OF POISON, VERY ILL

Little improvement today was noted in the condition of Mrs. H.

C. Loptien, pretty 22-year-old Anaheim bride who swallowed a quantity of bichloride of mercury tablets after a quarrel with her husband, according to attending physicians.

Mrs. Loptien, lying dangerously ill at the home of her mother, Mrs.

M. C. Hatfield, 140 West Palmira

avenue, Orange, steadfastly refused to discuss the reasons for her rash act. Her husband, an oil well driller employed at Brea, was at her bedside.

According to physicians who la-

borated to save her life immediately

after she swallowed the poison,

Mrs. Loptien was "not out of danger by any means," and has a long,

uphill fight ahead of her.

"This poison," said the physician,

"has a peculiar effect, and it may be several weeks before Mrs. Lopt-ien feels the full effect of the drug. Today her condition is virtually unchanged. She suffers intensely at times. She has slept a few hours and is able to take light nourishment. She is not out of danger by any means."

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Feeling between Ban Johnson, president of the American league, and Commissioner K. M. Landis became more bitter today as the result of the declaration by the judge that there is no reason to keep "Rube" Benton out of the major leagues.

Garry Herrmann of the Cincinnati Reds has purchased Benton

and expects he will play this year.

The star southpaw was barred from the American league after the 1919 world series scandal by

Johnson, when two National league

players made affidavit that Benton

had knowledge that the series was fixed. Johnson claimed Benton bet on the games and won.

Benton was also involved in an alleged scheme to "throw" a Cubs-

Giant game in 1919. It was reported he was offered $800 to lose

the game but he pitched and won.

Last season he worked for the St. Paul American association team and was one of the star hurlers of the league.

Two American league clubs

sought to purchase him but Johnson issued the edict that he wasn't back in that organization. He was then bought by the Cincinnati National league club.

"So far as the records of my office show there is no reason to keep Benton out of the major leagues," Landis declared.

$1000 NO-FUND CHECK CASE HERE DISMISSED

W. H. Behr was free today, charges involving the alleged issuing of a no-fund check for $1000 having been dismissed by the state yesterday, when the case came up for trial.

Behr was arrested on the complaint of W. H. Moore. Lack of evidence was given as a reason for the dismissal.

'MIRACLE MAN' YET SHROUDED IN MYSTERY

John Doe, the bearded "Miracle Man," whose asserted healing exploits started his fellow prisoners at the county jail, was today still a mystery.

Falling in an attempt to restore Justice J. B. Cox, before whom he was arraigned today on vagrancy charges, to perfect eyesight, and declining, even under stress, to disclose his name, the "Man of God" went back to jail, while county authorities were investigating in an effort to disclose his identity.

Keeps Name Hidden
"What is your name?" Justice Cox asked repeatedly. "What did your mother name you?" "They call me John Doe at the jail," came the reply, in a soft voice, gentle, not angry. "I was given a name when I was a child, but we do not accept all that is given us."

The warrant charged the Miracle man with "having no visible means of support."

"I am in the work of the Lord," he told the court. "I remove spectacles and crutches."

Test Is Failure
To test his powers, Judge Cox allowed him to remove his eyeglasses.

The experiment was apparently a failure.

"There is no failure," the man of mystery said. "You lack faith."

His trial was set for January 14. In the meantime, an effort will be made to identify him.

NOTED UTAH LAWYER ACCUSED OF FRAUD

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—Moses C. Davis, son-in-law of Justice S. R. Thurman of the Supreme court of Utah, and formerly well known attorney in Salt Lake City, and husband of a highly esteemed social and musical leader in Utah, surrendered in Judge Shenk's court yesterday on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He was released on $5000 bail.

Indicted jointly with Davis is his son, Richard, who surrendered on the preceding day.

Richard Davis, it is asserted, met with an accident in Long Beach, and, declaring that as a result he had lost the sight of one eye, obtained a settlement with the Pacific Electric Railway company for $3500. Later, it is asserted, the railway company discovered that Davis's loss of sight occurred prior to the accident.

It is in connection with this case that the indictment was returned against Richard Davis, including his father as a material witness and co-defendant.

L. A. MORTGAGE MEN OPEN LOCAL OFFICE

Huston and Abell, of Los Angeles, have opened offices in rooms 207-8, Hill and Son building, this city, and will represent H. J. Mullen and Company, inc., of Los Angeles, in the handling of securities of the Lincoln Mortgage company, for which Mullen and Company are western representatives. Bonds and securities of the Lincoln Mortgage company are on lands in California. Huston and Abell have offices in Los Angeles.

William A. Abell, a member of the firm, will manage the Santa Ana office.

"The securities we offer are the best possible for the conservative investor," Abell said. "They not only offer good returns but first class security. Land values in California are continually advancing, thus increasing the security of bonds and mortgages offered."

NEW RELIEF APPEAL MADE FOR NEAR EAST

The Southwestern district, Near East Relief committee, of which J. G. Mitchell is the Santa Ana representative, today issued a holiday week appeal here on behalf of 100,000 orphans whom overseas American relief workers are mothering and teaching useful trades.

Funds are desperately needed, according to the committee, for the purchase and sending of American food supplies to fill the void left by recent heavy drains on orphan food stocks in temporarily relieving the wants of hordes of refugee women and children fleeing from the Kemalists in Smyrna, Thrace and Anatolia.

Mrs. Jeannette W. Emrich of Berkeley stated in Los Angeles recently that on her visit at a relief station in Trans-Caucasia one evening last fall there were supplies on hand to give each child for supper only six or seven raisins and 3-4 ounces of bread. This ration has since been reduced.

Contributions may be made through W. B. Tedford, Santa Ana treasurer, or Near East Relief, 517 Wright and Callender building, Los Angeles.

CONDITION UNCHANGED
PARIS, Dec. 28.—Condition of Sarah Berahard, ill for ten days following a fainting spell, was announced at 10 o'clock today as unchanged.

HURRICANE III TO RACE SPEED CRAFT IN WEEK-END MEET

W. W. Paden and his crew of mechanics at Balboa today were putting the finishing touches on Hurricane III in an effort to get that fleet speed boat in the best of shape for the big week-end races at Los Angeles Harbor. The Hurricane III, while more or less of a mystery craft, has shown plenty of speed in its trials on Balboa bay and the wise ones figure it to be faster than the present title holder, the Hurricane II.

Paden will have some tough competition in the races as Earl Wood's Detroit VI is reputed to be the fastest speed boat on the coast. Miss America, another of Wood's entries, also is a speed-burner. The Fleming and the Mystery are other craft Paden will have to fear.

WRONG BELIEF ON P. O. BIDS CLEARED UP

"Because the post office department is asking for larger quarters for office room in this city, the impression has been created that a government-owned building is in contemplation," C. D. Overhiser, postmaster, said today. "Such is not the case. Proposals are being asked for larger quarters to be submitted by any one who may have what he considers a desirable location in the city."

"Proposals will be received up to February 15, 1923, for a room of 7500 square feet, with good daylight and a reasonably central location. All furniture and fixtures, light, heat and water must be furnished with the building."

"The lease is to date from November 1, 1923, for a term of from five to ten years. Specifications and blank proposals may be obtained from me, and a sample form of lease may be examined at my office."

The post office department desires it understood that no certain location has been picked.

RESOLUTIONS TOPIC OF HUNTINGTON CLUB

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 28.—New Years resolutions were the topic at the Lions Club luncheon at the Huntington Inn Wednesday noon, but the resolutions were not made by the Lions who were supposed to keep them. The chairman of the day were Lions J. H. Macklin and William R. Wright.

After disposing of the business President Ed Manning turned the meeting over to the entertainment committee. Lion Macklin said that since it was the last meeting of the year it would be fitting for Lions to make good resolutions for 1923. But to the surprise of all he said that each Lion should "re-solute" for the Lion on his right and so continue until all the Lions had "resolved."

President Manning was the first called on and had some difficulty in resolving for his neighbor, but he got away with it after getting his bearings and so the interesting and laughable resolutions were carried around the table. Rev. Andrew W. Shamel, Rev. James H. Hurst and Rev. Luther A. Arthur were present to assist the Lions in making good resolutions. Gus Daley was also guest of the club.

Mrs. E. E. Hale, piano, Miss Wilma Pothoff, violin, and Dr. Edgar Ewing, clarinet, furnished the music.

Personals

Mrs. Edward Power of Berkeley, who was formerly Miss Ruth Visel, has arrived for a holiday visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Visel, of 1120 Bush street.

Among interesting guests in the city is Walter Schulte, baritone of the famous New York Trio, who will be the guest for an extended period of his mother, Mrs. Schulte and his sister, Mrs. Rosalie Marshall of Valencia street.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kilson returned Wednesday to their home, 425 McPadden avenue, after having spent several days in Los Angeles enjoying a Christmas visit with their two sons and families.

Relief Corps

Members of the Woman's Relief Corps are anticipating the annual dinner with which they will entertain members of Sedgwick Post G. A. R. and their wives tomorrow at noon at the G. A. R. hall.

Contrary to the usual custom, the guests will not be confined to the Post as in previous years, but members of the W. R. C. with their husbands will enjoy the dinner from the guests' standpoint as well as from that of entertaining hosts.

Knights of Columbus

In addition to cards as the amusement tonight at the baseball benefit to be presented by the Knights of Columbus at K. C. hall, it was today announced that those who prefer dancing would find their wishes granted as arrangements have been made for that form of entertainment also.

Members of the Young Ladies' Institute will act as the pretty waitresses who will serve refreshments and a happy evening is anticipated.

Theaters

Marion Davies starring in "When Knighthood Was in Flower," the screen feature at the Temple theater.

"THE JILT" IS ATTRACTION ON PRINCESS SCREEN

What a strange thing is this story! A blind man reads at the command of a woman, and then he is proven blind in a far more harmful sense! A series of situations that compel attention by sheer unusualness are embodied in the dramatic story of "The Jilt," showing at the Princess theater.

Marguerite De La Motte is cast in the role of a girl who mistakes pity for love and is unhappy in her engagement to a blind man, a mutilated hero of the recent World War. Knowing that marriage to him when she does not really love him could result in nothing but unhappiness for both of them, she breaks the engagement, with many ensuing complications.

Matt Moore is cast as the blind man, and does justice to his role in the same fashion that he portrayed a leading character role in "The Storm."

HAIR-BREADTH ESCAPE FEATURE OF "EAST IS WEST"

Hair-breadth escapes, one of which is distinguished by a unique comedy touch, are to be seen on the screen this week at the West End Theater during the run of "East is West," in which Constance Talmadge is starred as Ming Toy.

Ming Toy and Billy Benson are fleeing from the armed guards of the "love boat," where she would have been sold at auction had it not been for the timely interference of the young American, when they dart into a Shanghai barber shop.

When the pursuers come up they find two customers in male costume heavily lathered as for shaving. The guards recognize neither and keep on their way. But under the lather and the strange attire are Ming Toy and Billy Benson, who make good their escape after this novel ruse.

Constance Talmadge is at her best in the role of Ming Toy in which she has many moments of comedy. Edward Burns plays Billy Benson, while the role of Charley Yong, the sinister Chinaman, is in the hands of Warner Oland.

Others in the cast are Nigel Barrie, E. A. Lawrence, Nick De Ruiz, Frank Lanning, Winter Hall and Lillian Lawrence. Sidney Franklin, who directed "East is West," has already achieved a special niche as director of "Smilin' Through."

KNIGHTHOOD FILM AT TEMPLE DRAWS HEAVILY

Have you seen "When Knighthood Was in Flower" is the question heard on all sides around town these days, as the film continues to be the Mecca for those who appreciate the very ultimate in entertainment possibility.

Marion Davies is utterly irresistible in this Paramount-Cosmopolitan adaptation of Charles

James noonday lunches.

What Are You Going To Do With Your Christmas Money

Now that you have spent several days gazing upon the check or fondling the crinkly bills that Santa Claus brought you, what are you going to do with it?

The reason for our curiosity has to do with certain remarkable values in diamonds we are offering at this moment—EXCEPTIONALLY good values. Likewise, the desirability of diverting some of that Christmas money to the purchase of a nice Wrist Watch, or other article that will give you the most pleasure.

That is probably what the giver had in mind for you to do!

Yuletide Happenings

GREET MANY GUESTS
Delightful dinner hosts were
Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Marston on Christmas day, when their home was artistically decorated with the Yuletide colors while two great baskets of poinsettias and ferns
graced the dining room table,
where twenty-four friends and relatives were seated to enjoy the toothsome repast.

Following the dinner the party
gathered around the cheerful blaze in the open fireplace while Santa Claus made his appearance and heaped attractive gifts on each and every one.

Games and music added their pleasures for the guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Marston, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Slider, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. E. G.
Marston, Mrs. Stoneman and daughters, Gladys and Gertrude;
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Slider, Miss Beatrice Hollingsworth, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Marston, Miss Elizabeth Marston, Terry Marston, Princeton, E. C.; Mrs. Robinson and son, Walter,
Long Beach, and the two Misses Slider of Minnesota.

ENGLISH FEASTING
A truly English feast was that held at the Westminster home of Mr. and Mrs. Gill, when members of their family connection met to enjoy the delicious Christmas
menu which ended with English plum-pudding served in the good old way.

Poinsettias and Christmas flowers decked the Gill home and the hospitality of the hosts extended throughout the afternoon and evening hours which were enlivened
by music since Professor J.
Jones of Garden Grove, a brother of Mrs. Gill, was one of the guests and was as usual, kept busy at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Gill entertained
among other guests their son, J.
Gill, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs.
A. Gill, Mr. and Mrs. Hall and son, Mrs. Bostock and family, Mr.
and Mrs. J. W. Scott; Mrs. Scott
and two sons of Los Angeles, Mrs.
Yorba Linda; Professor and Mr.
G. Jones, Garden Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Harris and family, Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley and many others.

GATHERING OF THE CLAN
One of the many happy holiday affairs characterized by a delicious dinner and a "gathering of the clans" was that at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Prince, 702 Hickey street.

Christmas bells and Plumosa
fern gave a charming, decorative effect while the table was cheerful with a centerpiece of a crystal bowl filled with holly which smiled
at its bright reflection in the mirrored plateau on which it stood.

In the afternoon many of the guests attended the football game in order to root for one of their number, Donald Williams.

Those enjoying the happy occasion were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Prince and the following guests, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Prince and son, Kenneth, Dr. and Mrs. G. K. Brandriff, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Havens of San Diego, Mr. and Mrs. Ross
Howe, Donald Williams, Elmer
Prince and Walter Kopley, the latter
a nephew from Chanute, Kansas, who is spending the winter in Los Angeles.

IN THE TALCOTE HOME
Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Talcott were holiday hosts when they greeted
a number of guests on Christmas day at their home, where cheerful decorations were used in profusion.

At the dinner table each guest found his place marked by a Christmas novelty. Roast turkey and other delicacies added to the pleasure of the feast as did the delicious mince and pumpkin pie
which formed the final course.

Guests included Mrs. Alcott's sister, Miss Annie Briggs, who is a winter guest in Santa Ana;
Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Talcott Jr., of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Will Merigold, Miss Luella Merigold
and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Beissel.

HAPPY MEMORIES
Happy memories of the Yuletide hospitality of Mr. and Mrs.
A. E. Kohler will long remain with a party of friends who on Christmas responded to a cordial invitation to a turkey dinner at the Kohler home.

Mr. and Mrs. Kohler's guests included the latter's mother, Mrs.
Mary Milligan, Mr. and Mrs. L.
O. Wams and son, Donald, of Covina; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Beal
of Owensmouth, Mrs. Kohler, Mrs.
Warne and Mrs. Beal all being sisters; Mr. Kohler's mother, Mrs.
Elizabeth Kohler; his brother, I.
N. Kohler, with Mrs. Kohler and their children, Edna, Mildred, Raymond and Lee; Mr. and Mrs.
Bentley Harris and son, Grant Harris and the two sons of the home, Harold and Floyd Kohler.

CONCERT-RECITALNew Spanish Home
Is Charming Setting
For Smart Bridge Tea

Offering a lovely and harmonious setting for a Christmas bridge tea
was the new Spanish home of Mr.
and Mrs. W. B. Tedford on North Broadway when Miss Marguerite Tedford entertained yesterday afternoon.

Receiving with the hostess was her mother, Mrs. W. B. Tedford, stately and dignified in an afternoon gown of midnight blue crepe Georgette; Mrs. Malcolm Tedford of San Fernando wearing a smart
blue taffeta and Miss Lois Tedford of the home, gowned in embroidered brown velvet.

Miss Tedford herself was especially lovely in a formal afternoon gown of black georgette brightened by a woven girde of black and silver and a great silver rose.
A large, black Spanish comb worn with a low coiffure, gave her a semi-foreign air which caused her to fit perfectly into the surroundings of the beautiful home.

The occasion was the initial social event in the new home and guests were loud in their praise of the beauty and distinction of the house and its furnishings. Extreme simplicity coupled with a cool harmony of coloring gave an unusually pleasing effect to the interior, which is in a gray gum finish with even the hardwood floors overlaid with gray gum. Black wrought iron fixtures for the lamps
with their parchment shades, and a wide and hospitable hearth are only a few of the many delightful
and artistic details of finish.

Holly wreaths with fanning tullows, baskets of poinsettias and other Christmas flowers added the pleasing holiday touch while the glowing fire completed the sense of hospitality.

Eight tables were utilized for bridge and at the close of the series of games Miss Tedford served a delicious tea menu in two courses
with the final one offering ice cream as tiny Santa Claus.

Miss Mary Harris as holder of high score received the gift of an attractive peacock feather desk pen while to Miss Ardis Burns of Los Angeles was given a vanity
box as consolation gift.

The guests offered a happy com-
mingling of home and school
friends of the hostess, and included
a number of her sorority sisters of the Pi Beta Phi sorority of Stanford. Among these were Mrs. J.
A. George, Miss Helen Randall and Miss Lucinda Griffith as well as several others both of this city and Los Angeles.

Miss Peggy Smart as one of the guests, was the center of interest
due to her recently announced betrothal to M. Carson Smart, and was showered with happy wishes of her friends.

Holiday Bride Receives Good Wishes

One of the many Christmas brides who is receiving the best wishes of many friends is Mrs.
Rowena Peters Howard, whose marriage to Mr. Earl Howard of Orange, took place at the First Christian church of Santa Ana at 8:30, Christmas Eve.

The impressive ceremony was performed by the Rev. F.
Porter in the presence of a few friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

Miss Peters wore a becoming dress of navy blue Canton crepe,
with a corsage of American beauty
roses.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Grada C. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Howard, Miss Pearl
Howard, Mrs. F. T. Porter, the Misses Ruby and Linnie Dodd, Miss Mary Rogers, and the Messrs. Otto and Carl Dodd. Mr. and Mrs. Howard will reside at 1102 East Third street.

Epworth League

Among pre-holiday activities of the Senior Epworth league of Spurgeon Memorial church was the dressing of a large box of dolls
and making of innumerable toys
for little children of the Mexican mission in Los Angeles supported by this district.

Carrying on the Christmas work,
the young people to the number of about thirty started out at 4 o'clock Christmas morning to sing the beautiful carols and waits sacred to the season of the Christ Child.
Many homes where sickness and sorrow dwelt were thus visited and cheered.

The Sunday school of the church
also observed the season by sending many flowers and plants to shut-in members.

Gridiron Hero Greeted At Homecoming By Dinner Party

Completely successful in every detail was the surprise dinner given last night at the G. V. Linsenbard home, 415 West First street when Howard Cook, member of the freshman football team of the University of California and last year's captain of the Santa Ana High School team, was guest of honor.

Mr. Cook arrived at the home of his hosts with no inkling that he was to be greeted by a number of his comrades of the gridiron but they were already assembled and awaiting his arrival. The surprise was as enjoyable to the others as it was to the guest of honor who was then escorted to the dining room where an elaborate four-course dinner was served by Mrs.
Linsenbard and Miss Julia Linsenbard.

Guests included only those members of the present high school team who were associated with captain Cook last year and covers were indicated for Coach Marvin
H. Morrison and Mrs. Morrison, Messrs. Elwayne Wilcox, Theodore
Coffman, William Luck, Eddie Linsenbard, Earl Jabs, Miss Gertrude Linsenbard, Mr. G. V. Linsenbard and the honor guest, Howard Cook.

The dinner was followed by a merry evening of games and music.

To Present Recital

Miss Etta Hale will present a group of her pupils in elocution in a recital tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 at the G. A. R. hall. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public.

Among the pupils to appear will be Arline Belding, Dorothy Dungan, Geneva Crawford, Geneva Covill, Marion Leiby, Margaret Finley, Clarabel Thompson, Bessie

Quiet Wedding
At Bride's Home
On Christmas Eve

Receiving the happy congratulations of their wide circle of friends are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Parsons following the quiet home wedding on Christmas Eve
at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. M. Stratton, 630 North Van Ness avenue.

Mrs. Parsons was Miss Sue Stratton who has resided in Santa Ana for the past two years and has been a bookkeeper at the Pashley Motor company. Mr.
Parsons is connected with Knox
and Stout and came to this city from his former home in New Mexico.

Their wedding at the holiday season was a very pretty one with the Rev. F. T. Porter reading the impressive ceremony in presence of a few close friends and relatives.

Miss Stratton was gowned in dark blue Canton crepe and wore a corsage of English violets. As her bridesmaid was Miss Dean Lowery in an afternoon frock of dark blue and also wearing violets. Everett Parsons served his brother as best man.

Following the ceremony the happy couple led the way to the dining room where, amid Christmas decorations, light refreshments were enjoyed with the bride's cake as one of the principal features. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons will make their home at 931 South Garvey street where they will receive their friends after the first of the year.

Those present at the wedding
included Mrs. J. M. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Peel, Mr. and Mrs. J.
D. Wineburner, Miss Ruby Stratton, Miss Dean Lowery, Miss Rata
Johnson and the Messrs. J. A.
Parsons, Leonard Parsons, Everett Parsons and J. A. Stratton.

Eastern Trip Fraught With Importance To Santa Anans

When Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Skir-
ven, together with C. F. Skirven Jr., took their departure yesterday over the Santa Fe for Keokuk, Iowa, it was on a trip fraught with much interest and importance. For the party which left Santa Ana as a trio will return
a quartette since Mr. Skirven Jr.
will bring home a bride in the person of Miss Daisy Renaud, a charming society girl of the Iowa city.

Miss Renaud is the daughter of a prominent jeweler of Keokuk and the romance of the two young people had its inception back in childhood days, when they were schoolmates. The wedding will be an event of January 5, and following a honeymoon trip, the young couple will join Mr. and Mrs. Skirven for a return to this city.

Awaiting the arrival of the newlyweds is a pretty new home on an orange ranch east of Anaheim,
where they will be at home to a wide circle of friends eager to greet and welcome the bride.

Christmas Story Impressively Given

Members of the Sunday school of the Church of the Messiah had their annual Christmas party last night at the guild hall of the church. Under the direction of Mrs. W. L. H. Benton, wife of the rector, scenes illustrating the Bible story of the birth of Christ
were presented beautifully and impressively.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—The next course is about ready.

Pacific coast football fans as may as had the money, the time,
and the inclination all at the same moment, went to San Diego to see the first of the three great intersectional battles scheduled for coast gridirons this holiday season.

Now all eyes are on Stanford Stadium where, day after tomorrow,
the University of Pittsburgh will clash with this Stanford-Warner himself against Warner's system
as applied by his first lieutenant, Andy Kerr.

Not the least interested of spectators will be the California
coaches and players, members of the three times champions of the Pacific coast. California realizes that it is this man, "Pop" Warner,
that the Bear will have to beat
from now on and the Warner style of play as exemplified by Pitt and Stanford will be closely scrutinized.

Never regarded with derision,
but looked upon as a weak sister
early in the season, Stanford has shown marvelous improvement
with every game until in the California game, the Cardinal gameness and fight, won thousands of supporters. Whether the Cards will fight as they did—as they always do—against California is problematical. But if the Cards have kept right on improving in technical football, as there is every reason to believe they have,
the fight will take care of itself.

Pittsburgh is generally favored to win because of its great plunging, running back field. Stanford has not one reliable plunger. But if the Stanford line can cope with the Pitt forwards, the speed of Wilcox, Doughty and Cleveland and the place kicking of Cuddeback
may be as effective as the line play of the Panther backs.

115 Pound Athlete Shows Great Build
Is Not Everything

EGBERT R. ISBELL

Egbert R. Isbell, the University of Michigan's cross-country champion, has clearly shown this year that great size and build are not necessarily essential to a successful athlete.

Isbell, when in running trim,
weighs but 115 pounds and is a slight youth who by grim determination and vigorous training has developed into the greatest harrier
in the west this year.

He was placed first in every run
he has entered at Michigan, and besides shattering all his home school records he established the best time that has been made in the past ten years in the Western Conference meet. Isbell easily led the field of 60 entries over the hard Perdue course and running in the face of a strong wind, finished
nearly as fresh as when he started.

Isbell and his five team-mates
won the Western Conference championship this year, which is the first time Coach Farrell's men have carried off the honors since Michigan has entered teams in the meet.

THYE THROWS KARASICK
PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 28.—Ted Thye, coast middleweight wrestler, was victor last night over Al Karasick, the "Russian Lion," in a three-fall bout at the Hellig. Thye got the first fall with a wrist
lock. Karasick obtained the second with a headlock, and on the third Thye simply slammed the Russian on the back of his head and sat on him.

BIG BAMBINO GETS IN SHAPE FOR NEXT YEAR'S FLAG CHASE

Babe Ruth Finds Life On Little Farm Often Boreome
But $9600 Limousine Helps Pass Idle Time

By EDWARD M. THIERRY
(NEA Service Staff Writer)
SUDBURY, Mass., Dec. 28.—This is where you come if you want to see Babe Ruth in his farmer make-up.

Take this tip, though: If you want to see him, come during the fag end of the week. We were lucky, and caught him at home.
"Hear you've given up the bright lights and are living the simple life?" we said, coming in out of the cold and joining him
before the fire in the big farmhouse sitting room.

Ruth granted assent and yawned.
"Lonely, isn't it?" we suggested.
"Some," said the slugger. "Not so bad, though. You see, I run down to New York every Monday
—it makes the week go faster!"

Little Old New York
Ruth said he hadn't missed a Monday yet: by the time he gets back from New York the week is half gone. He drives down usually in his $9,600 limousine and is proud of the fact that he covers the 200 miles from Sudbury, which is 20 miles west of Boston, in five and a half hours.

The farm comprises 160 acres
and didn't produce anything much last season. Ruth said he hadn't decided what to do with it; but he's going to have some chicken coops built this winter. He bought the farm this year.

"The air's good around here,"
he said, "there's some fishing in Pratt's pond, and a little hunting.
Not much to do, except chop-wood. I've done some of that."

How Babe Makes Up

The home-run king was wearing a coonskin cap, a blue flannel shirt and sweater, old trousers and high-laced boots. He looked to be in good shape, not so fat as he appeared in baseball uniform last season.

"I've taken some off the waist
line," he said. "It used to be 45.
Now it's 39. Haven't weighed lately, though."

Aside from some wood chopping and limousine work, Ruth's chief exercise is bowling. He goes over to Waltham some evenings to bowling.

The house is one of those monstrosities created by building haphazard additions to the original structure. Ruth said he was going to have a sun-parlor built on one end, and hardwood floors put down throughout.

Proud of the Baby
A caretaker and his wife take care of the farm house. The cooking is done by Fanny Bailey, the colored cook. There is a chauffeur to drive the limousine.

Mrs. Ruth, swathed in a fur coat, was leaving in the machine
for a day's trip into Boston when we arrived. She has recently been ill.

The baby, Dorothy Helen, who Ruth says will be two in February, came running when Babe called: "Dot! Come to papa!"

Ruth seems very proud of the baby, who looks such a tiny mite beside his tremendous bulk, and he spends hours playing with her. When he talks to her he always calls himself "Papa."

PENN STATE HOLDS SECRET PRACTICE

PASADENA, Dec. 28.—Penn
State, which plays U. S. C. here
New Year's day, is holding secret practice in the Tournament of Roses stadium, being aided by the first-time presence in the Tournament of Roses stadium of a full set of iron gates which effectively close all of the 22 tunnel

entrances. The Rose Bowl may now be made as tight as a country estate, with a high iron fence around it and Coach Hugo Bezdek is taking advantage of this fact for a quiet work-out for the boys from the Keystone state.

Yesterday the Penn State team visited Hollywood for a short trip to distract their minds from the rigors of football. The short visit was so prolonged that the lads missed luncheon at the Raymond and had dinner served at the stadium to make up for lost time.

JAKIE MAY

Bought in 1917 for $750.
Sold in 1922 for 10 times as much.

There you have the high spots
in the baseball career of Jake May.

May is a southpaw pitcher. He was recently added to the staff of the New York Americans. He was purchased from the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast League.

In 1917 May was with San Antonio of the Texas League. Miller Huggins, then managing the St. Louis Cardinals, saw May work in several spring training games, and was impressed. Before the close of the season, Huggins had purchased him for the Cardinals.

The next year Huggins went to the American league. May failed to prosper under his new manager, Branch Rickey. A year ago Rickey sent May to Beaumont in a trade for Bill Bailey. Vernon bought him from Beaumont.

Last year with Vernon, May won 35 and lost 9 games.
Huggins feels May is the much-needed southpaw of the Yankees.

GRID COACHES MEET TO DISCUSS RULES

Mentors Vote Down Plan to Increase Penalties; Try
for Goal Is Favored

BY JACKSON V. SCHOLZ
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Football beef as well as football brains was much in evidence at the second annual meeting of the American Association of Football Coaches.

Great mentors of the sport and former stars whose names are engraved deeply on the tablets of football history crowded the anteroom, renewing old acquaintances
and making new ones.

The coaches, it seemed, did not as yet wish to exert to any great extent the strong influence that such an organization would hold over the American game, but it is believed that when the organization "hits its stride" it will be the greatest factor toward moulding
and improving football.

Interest of the meeting was centered chiefly on the report of the rules committee, headed by Major Daly of West Point, which proposed several changes.

It was evident from the start that none of the coaches were in favor of changes involving an increased penalty. The suggestion to prohibit clipping from the rear
and side and to impose a penalty of 25 yards for such infractions
was promptly voted down as was the motion to increase the penalty
for delaying the game.

One of the most significant actions taken by the coaches was the approval of the try for point after touchdown that has been in use this year. All seemed to feel that the new rule had received a fair trial and that, if it did not fulfill all the requirements, it would at least do until something better
could be suggested.

In this connection, John W.
Heisman of Pennsylvania, suggested that in event of a tie game,
both teams be given three extra downs and that the eleven which succeeded in advancing the ball
the greatest distance should be allowed the extra point to decide the game.

Frank O'Neil, former Columbia
coach, also suggested that a tie game should be decided in favor of the team which made the greatest number of first downs.

Neither suggestion met with the approval of a majority.

Stocks, Markets and Financial News

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

Market Irregular as Speculators In Move to Dodge Taxation

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Sales to establish loss for tax purposes and in some cases profits which it is not desired to carry into next year, were very much in evidence in today's stock transactions. The market, as a result, was irregular and price movements uncertain.

News of the despatch of British warships to the Near East was another unsettling factor. Nevertheless, the list as a whole showed resiliency.

Baldwin, after being forced down over two points, rallied to a new high and United States Steel and Studebaker both gave good accounts of themselves.

Stocks selling at or near their low, like Midvale and Central Leather, naturally provided the best medium for recording losses. One house estimates that close to $150,000 shares of Midvale have been sold for tax purposes over the past six weeks.

The market closed lower.

Closing prices included: U. S. Steel 105 3/4, off 1 1/8; Midvale 26 5/8, up 1/8; Republic 45 1/2, off 3/4; Baldwin 137, off 2 1/2; American Locomotive 127, off 2 1/2; Pan American 82 3/4, off 1/2; Texas company 47 3/8, off 1/4; Calif. PLAN TO IRRIGATE VAST DESERT WASTE

(By Blyth, Witter and Company News Service.)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—Thousands of acres of arid desert land in what now is known as the Mojave River Sink soon will be converted into rich agricultural lands, according to officials of the Nevada-California Electric corporation, which is pushing high-power transmission lines into that territory.

Tests have shown that there is plenty of water below the surface of these arid lands, and all that is necessary to convert the desert into rich agricultural land is electric power with which to pump water to the surface for irrigation purposes.

The soil of the Mojave River Sink is similar to that in the Imperial Valley, which has already been reclaimed. In the San Bernardino basin, which produces millions of dollars of agricultural products annually, every foot of land is irrigated by water pumped with electric energy.

Work was started on three new oil wells in the Huntington Beach field last week, according to the weekly report of the state mining bureau, department of petroleum and gas. One of the new ventures is on the Jackie Coogan lease and is being put down by the White Bear Petroleum syndicate.

The Jameson Petroleum syndicate started a well on the Block B lease and M. H. Mosier Special started a new well on the Porter lease.

The report also shows the Western Star Oil company as making a test for water shut-off. Similar tests are being made by the Standard Oil company on three of its Huntington Beach wells.

The Bolca Chica Petroleum corporation has started work looking toward the deepening and redrilling of one of its wells in the beach field.

Investment Houses Show $745,686,000 Placed In Securities

(By Blyth, Witter & Co., News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—Los Angeles investment houses have either underwritten or participated in a total of $745,686,000 of public utility and industrial bonds and preferred stocks since the first of the year. This total, which does not include the appreciable amount of government and municipal bonds sold, constitutes a record in the financial history of the city, and affords illuminating evidence of the readiness with which Southern California investors absorb securities.

Twenty-one western utility securities for an aggregate amount of $63,294,000 were offered. Such representative issues as Southern California Edison general refunding 5s, Los Angeles Gas & Electric 5 1/2s and 6s, and Pacific Gas & Electric 6s were largely distributed here. National public utility issues sold here were eleven in number, and totaled $103,462,000. They included such issues as Louisville Gas & Electric debenture 6s, Southern Railway Equipment 6s, and Tennessee Electric Power company first and refunding 6s.

Seventeen national industrials were distributed here, amounting to $608,500,000. Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation first lien collateral 7s, Virginia-Carolina Chemical fifteen year 7 1/2s and Cudahy Packing first mortgage 5s are representative of the list. Western industrials numbered seventeen, and totaled $45,780,000. The list included Union Oil of California 6s, Hally Sugar 7s, Sperry Flour first mortgage 6s, and Fifth Street building 6s.

Western irrigation bonds amounted to $9,650,000, and were five in number, the most important being the Merced Irrigation district 5s, the Yuma county, Arizona 5 1/2s, and the Imperial Irrigation district fourth issue 6s.

The majority of the issues carried either a 5 1/2 per cent or 6 per cent rate, with some few written at 7 and 8 per cent.

DISCUSS MOTOR VEHICLE LAW AMENDMENTS

The constitution of California stands in the way of adoption by the state legislature of a provision in the proposed new motor vehicle law making it possible for county officers to issue automobile licenses, in the opinion of the legislative committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, as disclosed today in a written report of the committee to J. C. Metzgar, secretary.

Attorney L. A. West, committee chairman, said that the plan was impractical, in the face of a recent supreme court decision, declaring that additional help cannot be given a county officer during his term of office—additional help would be equivalent to an increase in the officer's salary, according to the court.

"To impose on a county officer the additional work that would be entailed in the handling of licenses would result in confusion and congestion in whatever office that might be designated to receive applications," said West. "The resulting confusion would be detrimental to the conduct of county business. Therefore, the scheme is impracticable, the committee believes."

Frown on Code Change
The committee after consideration took an adverse view with regard to a proposed amendment to a section of the political code with reference to the issuance of no-fund and fictitious checks. It had been suggested that the section be changed to make the issuance of such checks prima facie evidence of intent to defraud. In the opinion of the committee, the courts are competent to interpret the intent when the circumstances of the issuance of such paper are presented in testimony.

A committee in Los Angeles, it was learned, is preparing to recommend legislation that will provide a gasoline tax of 1 cent a gallon and readjustment of license rates on the basis of weight of the vehicle instead of horsepower. It is estimated that the gas tax and license adjustment will create a fund of approximately $15,000,000 annually for state highway reconstruction and maintenance.

The Los Angeles committee is known as the executive committee of the automobile conference held in San Francisco, December 29, at the instance of Friend W. Richardson, governor-elect. T. B. Talbert, chairman of the Orange county board of supervisors, is a member. The report will be presented to a conference to be held in San Francisco next Tuesday.

It was pointed out that the suggested method for taxing motor vehicles according to weight would eliminate the inequality of charging the same tax against a recreation car as for a truck of the same horsepower. It was estimated that the revenue increase by such adjustment would amount to approximately $5,000,000 annually. The gas tax, it was said, should yield a revenue around $8,000,000.

HARPERSVILLE PEOPLE SPEND QUIET HOLIDAY

HARPERSVILLE, Dec. 28.—Christmas was celebrated in good style by the residents of Harpersville. Dinner, with distribution of presents and social occasions in about every home, was the order of the season.

Sam Weaver and wife took dinner with Clarence Pearson and family. The two men are putting on the finishing touches to their plans for a trip to the East, but it is possible that the cold weather in the East may cause them to go awry. Neither of these gentlemen are very fond of cold weather. The truth is they are pretty well inoculated with the California bug and there seems always the possibility of a flare up at the last moment when it is a question of going where the snow flies.

Dr. H. B. Spayd and his family spent the day at home. The day was a quiet one the doctor reports and most enjoyable.

Nath Harmon's water tank went to pieces recently and there has been no wind to move his pump since, which necessitates the carrying of water for house use. Harmon is not over-fond of that sort of exercise, but California can be depended upon to do her part and without doubt in a few days all trouble will be of the past.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Christensen are entertaining their two daughters, one from Los Angeles and the other from the Chowchilla valley. Christmas was a family affair with the Christensens and much enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Foss from Washington are camping in Herman Christensen's cottage in his orange grove. The Fosses are traveling for Mr. Foss' health. They drove all the way down the coast in an automobile accompanied by a camp trailer and enjoyed the trip across country very much save when they encountered rainy weather.

The Rosselot's enjoyed Christmas together and had dinner at the Cherry Blossom in Santa Ana Christmas Day. Turkey and all the trimmings of the season made the Christmas dinner a happy and pleasant one.

Postman Smith reports the heaviest mails for years this Christmas season. Mr. Smith will be glad to enjoy a rest and a day at home New Year's day. No mail will be delivered on that day.

WILSON CELEBRATES BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Former President Woodrow Wilson celebrated his sixty-sixth birthday quietly at his home here today.

Headed by Hamilton Holt of New York the officers of the $1,000,000 Wilson Foundation called on the war president to inform him that the fund is completed and is to be used for scholarships and educational purposes in bringing about international peace.

ASK FOR INSURANCE AGAINST IDLENESS

(United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—A drive to obtain legislation for unemployment insurance was open here today at the annual convention of the American Association for Labor Legislation.

Wesley C. Mitchell, director of the National Bureau of Economic Research, New York, recommended methods of stabilizing production to avoid over-expansion in time of great activity and finding markets in times of depression.

The government, he said, should govern its purchases and expenditures for public works, in times of depression.

Women workers are especially hard hit during the periods of depression and special means for their relief was urged by Miss Mary Anderson, director of the women's bureau of the department of labor.

Other measures recommended included old age pension laws.

PATROLMAN TO BE DAY DESK SERGEANT

Frank Lutz, patrolman, will act as day desk sergeant of the city police department in place of Miss Hazel Harding, who has resigned the position in order to take a position with the Orange County Automobile club, City Marshal Claude Rogers announced today.

"I feel that a man is better fitted for the position," Chief Rogers explained. "Many important matters are brought before the police department each day through complaints not particularly fit to be reported to a woman."

Miss Harding has given us fine service and we wish her well in her new position.

Patrolman William E. Bates will continue as night desk sergeant. Lutz will not receive higher pay as result of his transfer to the desk work, Chief Rogers said. No official rating as desk sergeant has been granted by the police department here, and to create such a rating with its individual pay, it would be necessary to bring the matter before the city council, he said.

City Attorney G. H. Scott, and City Engineer W. G. Knox have been left without their joint-secretary and stenographer through the resignation of Miss Harding. She had been serving both the city attorney and the city engineer in addition to her duties on the police desk, according to Scott, who said

ADMIT BERGDOLL IS COMING TO AMERICA

PENSACOLA, Fla., Dec. 28.—With the telegraphic announcement that Grover Cleveland Bergdoll of Philadelphia, Pa., the noted slacker, had left Germany on a merchant vessel and was en route to a gulf port, every crew reaching here is being questioned.

It was later learned that the German steamship Jupiter was about to arrive and that Bergdoll is a member of that crew. That he sailed is definitely announced by German authorities.

One of the happy events of the holidays in Masonic circles will be the New Year's reception which officers of Hermosa chapter will present following the regular chapter meeting at Masonic temple, Monday night, January 1, at 8 o'clock.

All past patrons of the chapter as well as members of the Past Matrons' association are urged to be present to enjoy the evening. An entertaining program is being arranged under the direction of Mrs. George Balderston and her capable committee and following its presentation the evening will end with dancing. All members of the Eastern Star are extended a cordial invitation to be present.

CHARGES THEFT OF VALUABLE PAINTING

(Copyright, 1922, by United Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Theft of a famous old painting—"Cataullus at Lesbias"—was charged today to Robert H. Doran, president, and Roy Ricketts, secretary of the Thurber Art Galleries.

Miss Mary J. Gilbert, owner of the painting, which she claims was worth $25,000, obtained the warrants after she alleged the two officers of the gallery sold the picture without her consent, and have refused to give her the name of the buyer. She said they sold it for much less than its true value and only turned $1500 over to her. "Cataullus" is the work of Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, who was knighted by Queen Victoria for his vivid portrayal of Latin mythology. Miss Gilbert said she obtained the picture from her guardian, James Gardner Moulton, wealthy art dealer and collector of New York and Paris.

Ricketts, a former partner of Moulton, denied the charges, saying he had been given full authority by Miss Gilbert to dispose of the painting.

Modern Poetry

Mrs. Jack Oliver will entertain the members of the Modern Poetry section of Ebull club at the regular meeting to be held at her home, 306 Orange avenue, January 4, at 8 o'clock. The original date of the meeting was January 2, but press of other matters made it necessary to postpone it for two days.

O. H. BARR TAKES UP KIWANISANS' GAVEL

M. B. Wellington at the close of the Kiwanis club meeting at St. Ann's Inn at noon yesterday surrendered the gavel and president's pin to O. H. Barr, recently elected as leader of the club. Wellington expressed his appreciation of the loyal support that members had given him and bespoke for the new president the same support.

Barr spoke briefly of his plans, dealing mostly with "regulations" that he will invoke in conducting the affairs of the organization. J. P. Baumgartner, paying tribute to Wellington, said that he combined to advantage the qualities of dignity, force and humor which have resulted in building up the club during the past year and which have given it the high standing it has in this community.

The Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist church, and A. P. Nelson, district attorney, were initiated as members. R. R. Miller administered the pledges, which were of a humorous nature. Each of the candidates spoke of the high purposes of the club and their pleasure at the opportunity to become identified with the group of men composing the membership.

WOULD RAISE DANCE BAN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—Los Angeles wants to jazz into the early hours of the morning. Members of the Southern California Hotel association yesterday prepared a resolution to be presented to the city council asking that dancing hereafter be permitted until 1 a. m., instead of midnight, as at present.

OWNERS TELL VIEWS

L. A. West Says Cost Would Be Prohibitive; Forgy
Is for Proposal

Property owners on Broadway, it was learned today, are divided as to the advisability of opening that thoroughfare through from Santa Clara avenue, Santa Ana, to Chapman avenue, Orange, and of erection of a bridge across Santiago creek, under an assessment district plan, as recently suggested by J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Metzgar pointed out that another main thoroughfare into Santa Ana from the north was essential to the greater development of Santa Ana. He suggested that property owners on the street organize an assessment district for meeting the cost of the construction of the bridge. He was of the opinion that a majority of the owners of property through which the street would be extended would be sufficiently interested and would reap returns that would justify them in giving the land needed for street purposes, leaving the district only to finance the building of a bridge. It was estimated that such a structure would cost approximately $60,000.

L. A. Subdivider of Land Here Will Move Family to Santa Ana

D. C. Huntington, of Los Angeles, who purchased the tract of land on North Flower street now known as Huntington Square, has decided to move his family here and build a fine bungalow of the Spanish type on Lot 21 in the tract.

Construction will be begun within a few days, according to Huntington. The go-ahead spirit evinced by Santa Ana and the co-operation which Huntington has received since taking over Huntington Square have been the factors which have caused him to take up his residence here.

Huntington reports that more than one-half of the lots have been sold since the tract was placed upon the market and have signified their intention of building at once. The good weather is allowing the improvements which are being put in by the subdivider to be speeded.

"MONEY WELL SPENT," SAY S. A. REALTORS AS CONCLAVE BILLS PAID

All bills, contracted by the Santa Ana Realty board for entertainment of the eighteenth annual convention of the California Real Estate association here recently, have been paid, according to J. C. Wallace, secretary of the board.

Wallace disclosed that the expense was $2,264.33, or approximately $5 for each delegate to the session.

"The money was well spent—Santa Ana and Orange county received big value in a publicity way," said Wallace. "We have demonstrated that Santa Ana can entertain a convention of from 750 to 1000 delegates and entertain them right. Realtors at the convention were unanimous in their expression of appreciation of the manner in which the convention was handled."

The weekly luncheon of the board will be held at St. Ann's Inn tomorrow, when adoption of a new constitution and by-laws will be considered.

URGES SERVICE BODIES BUILD UNITEDLY

Structure to House C. of C., Other Organizations
Is Advocated

Erection in Santa Ana of a building for housing various community service organizations was advocated today by J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, as a solution of a problem now confronting that organization and also the Boy Scouts.

The problem of the two organizations is the result of decision by the city council to take over rooms on the second floor of the city hall that have been used by them.

Increased business in the offices of the street superintendent and city engineer has made it necessary for the council to request the Boy Scout executives to vacate the building and the Chamber of Commerce to take a room that is declared to be entirely inadequate for its purposes.

Metzgar has no definite plans by which such a building could be financed, but believes it would have to be done through public subscriptions.

He pointed out that such a building could be used as headquarters for the two organizations named, for the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, the Social Service league, and, possibly, for the Orange County Automobile Trades association and other similar organizations that maintain headquarters here.

"The time is not far distant when the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce meet have permanent quarters, and I know of no better way of securing such a place than through co-operation of the various organizations and support of a building program by those directly concerned in the success and future of each," said the secretary.

CHANTICLEER MANOR WORK BEING RUSHED

Chanticleer Manor improvements continue at full speed since the weather has been favorable. Capt. A. W. Stradling, sales manager of this property, reports the completion of the gas mains along Main street, and on St. Andrews and Gertrude streets in the tract. When this work is fully completed gas will be available to every lot.

Headway is also reported on Chanticleer Manor water works. This plant will have a capacity of 1,800 gallons a minute and an average pressure of 70 pounds. It will produce ample water for both domestic and irrigation purposes for every lot when completed, according to Capt. Stradling.

All sidewalks have been completed throughout the tract and many trucks are now being used in hauling gravel for the street work. The subdividers promise that ornamental trees will be planted in the parking spaces throughout Chanticleer Manor, beginning the first week in January. Seventeen sales during the past two weeks constitutes the record of the sales force here.

GOMPERS OPTIMISTIC FOR LABOR IN 1923

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—"Labor has cause to rejoice this new year," Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in greetings to New York organized workers.

"Labor," Gompers said, "has vindicated once more the saying that truth crushed will rise again. Labor under the banner of trade unionism, knit together in federations, and finally in one great federation, knows now its own invincibility."

"Labor knows today its own courage, its own self restraint, its own philosophy, its eternal truth and the righteousness of its cause. Labor is marching on."

MIGHTY FUTURE FOR STATE IS PREDICTED

Business in California is certain to be good permanently, irrespective of what calamity-howlers say, in the opinion of Frazier O. Reed, of San Jose, who was elected president of the California Real Estate association at the annual convention of the organization held here recently.

"More than 2000 years ago men started west from the Asiatic side of the Pacific ocean and men have been going west ever since," said Reed in a statement issued at San Jose. "They went from China into the Holy Land. Then to Greece, then to Italy, then to Spain and western Europe. Then Columbus discovered America. The Pilgrims came, their children settled westward, until the Mississippi and Missouri valleys were reached. Then the '49ers. And then the white man's westward trail ended on the eastern side of the Pacific in our glorious California."

"It is difficult to understand that the white man's westward journey is ended and that the 4,000,000 of people now in California are but the vanguard of the millions that are to follow. California's population will probably reach 10,000,000 by 1930, if the present rate of increase is not stopped by something mightier than we know of to date."

President Reed pointed out that San Francisco business men who have just raised a fund of $400,000 to relieve California have exemplified the new spirit of "bigness," generosity and co-operation which they are trying to foster by the very breadth of conception in their campaign, demonstrated by the fact that their first double-page ad which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post contained no mention of those who paid for the ad, and in addition, dealt with the orange groves of Southern California. This is the spirit which "Californians Incorporated" are endeavoring to instill into every citizen of this state.

"Italy and California," continued Reed, "are about the same size, yet there are more tillable acres in California than in Italy. There are four millions of people in California and forty millions in Italy. If the people now in California were to build a fence around it they could not keep the other thirty-six millions from coming to California."

SYMPATHY GREATEST NEED OF GIRLS SAYS SEATTLE CO-ED COP

SEATTLE, Dec. 28.—Amelia Sorenson, who graduated from the University of Washington last June, and who is 24 years old, is a Seattle police woman, on guard in several dance halls, whose operation is being investigated by a grand jury.

Miss Sorenson, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Swan Sorenson, live at Ellensburg, Wash., became a police woman in September by ranking highest in a competitive examination. Some of her conclusions from her experience are:

"The trouble with most of these girls is crepe de chine soul. They can't endure cotton next to their skins. I must have pretty things myself to be happy, and I know what makes the girls I work with stoop to the things they do."

"A woman's best weapon is sympathy. It is the only one she carries on her cabaret beat, where she is on duty from eight until midnight."

"You can't do anything with dance hall girls if you're cold. Miss Sorenson has curly hair, and is quick in her actions."

Completed last week at a cost of $53,000, Lowell school, at the southwest corner of Flower and Bishop streets, will be placed in commission next Tuesday, F. L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, here, announced today.

Pupils of the southwest section of the city who have been attending half-day sessions at McKinley school since the opening of the fall term last September, will report to the new school Tuesday.

Registration of pupils for this school at McKinley totaled 238. It is expected that this number will be increased to more than 300 when Lowell opens, as it is understood that a number of children in this district were kept at home by parents who preferred to have them miss school rather than have them attend only for half a day.

Lowell is one of three new school houses built in the city since the opening of the fall term. The new Washington school on North Main street will be opened Tuesday. John Muir school on East Fourth, was put in commission three or four weeks before the close of school for the Christmas vacation.

Lowell consists of seven rooms and kindergarten. It is an attractive building, constructed of concrete. It is built in an L shape. The kindergarten is available for use as an assembly room. A stage has been provided.

All classrooms are large, airy and well lighted. Every convenience is provided. The playgrounds are considered ample for the day activities of the children.

SAYS ELECTRICITY NOT TO FAIL S. A.

W. M. Deimling, district manager for the Southern California Edison company here, today pointed to that corporation's nineteen hydro-electric plants situated in various watersheds and to its four steam plants, with capacity equal to the nineteen, as a guarantee that Santa Ana and 311 other Southern California towns and cities will not suffer the inconvenience that Tacoma did during the Christmas holidays, when it was without light and power for a long period.

He said that at Tacoma the power supply furnished by the municipal plant was shut off because of a shortage of rainfall limiting the capacity of the hydro-electric plant. According to his statement, 100,000 persons were inconvenienced.

The manager said that Santa Ana was well protected against any long interruption of service, by reason of the fact that four feeder lines run into the station at Katella, between Santa Ana and Anaheim, and that five lines extend from that plant into Santa Ana.

"It is impossible for any shortage of rainfall, of similar condition, to effect the system as a whole, for other plants, in an emergency, take up the load," said Deimling.

FULLERTON RESIDENT ARRESTED WHEN HIS CAR HITS BIG STAGE

FULLERTON, Dec. 28.—F. William Seggie, a well known Fullerton resident, is alleged to have tried to butt a Crown Stage off west Commonwealth, Sunday night, with his auto, and was only partially successful, according to complaint filed at the local police station by R. L. Steeley, driver of the stage.

Seggie is said to have been bowling along at a good rate of speed when the stage got in his way. In the mixup the auto driven by Seggie was partially wrecked and the stage halted for a short time for repairs before it could proceed on its way.

Seggie was released on a bond of $300 for his appearance before Judge French to answer to the charge of reckless driving preferred by the stage driver.

STREET WORK IN COURSE OF BUILDING SUFFICIENT FOR S. A. - L. A. BOULEVARD

Santa Ana's street paving, finished this year, now under construction and that now in the stage preliminary to contract, would be sufficient to build another boulevard with sidewalks and curbs between this city and Los Angeles.

This tremendous improvement program covering a street mileage of almost 30 miles and worth approximately $48,000 a mile was revealed today in figures issued by W. G. Knox, city engineer.

"I have been engaged in municipal engineering work for the past ten years," declared Knox, "but never before in my experience have I been connected with a city so consistently urgent in its demand for and accomplishment of street improvements."

"Six miles of street paving with 12 miles of five-foot walk and 12 miles of curbing have been completed during the past twelve months. Three miles now are under construction. I should judge the final cost of this work to approximate $500,000."

"Some of this has been private work, but the great majority has been public work, coming under the California Improvement act of 1911 and 1915, and was contracted for on ten-year bonds."

"Fifteen miles of paving now is in course of regular proceedings preliminary to contract or is being planned as part of next year's work."

"Next year probably will be the biggest paving year in Santa Ana's municipal history."

Favor Heavy Paving.
"The paving is averaging five or six-inch concrete, which has been found to have a definite long life. Several years ago three-inch paving was laid in many cities, but today the heavier paving is almost standard."

"Considerable legal procedure is connected with the issuance of paving contracts, and of the sixteen proceedings handled this year only one was disapproved by the experts whose business it is to examine all such contracts. The fault in this isolated case was caused by an erroneous map, that had been drawn many years ago."

"Pending petitions now under proceedings call for approximately five miles of paving. The usual time of presentation of petition to the city council until time of closing contract. Seven other petitions now are in the preliminary stage."

"In addition to the paving work, contracts now have been let for seven miles of city outfall sewer, and five miles of joint-city outfall sewer."

Plan Lighting Districts.
"Two lighting districts now are in the preliminary stages: West Fourth street from Ross to Artesia streets, and West Fifth street from French to Shelton streets. Contracts probably will be made for the installation of about 100 ornamental lighting standards in these two districts within the next 40 to 60 days."

"Improved streets, of course, are among the first features of a city that attract the visitor's eye. If he is a prospective settler the improved streets aid materially in selling him the idea of locating in Santa Ana."

LOT ON FIRST AT MAIN SOLD FOR $15,000

Work was in progress today on the construction of a brick building at 108 East First street to be occupied by Roy J. Lyon as headquarters for the local Miller tire agency.

James Obrien is the contractor. The structure will cost approximately $3500.

Lyon, who purchased the fifty-foot frontage from W. D. Ranney, was understood to have paid approximately $15,000 for the property.

SANTA ANA HEIGHTS IMPROVEMENT RUSHED

Good progress has been made with the sidewalk work at Santa Ana Heights during the past week. The Newport road frontage of this property will soon have all of its walks down. The work is being done by Contractor B. R. Ford. The subdividers expect to have this tract sold out within the next thirty days.

HOW TO GUARD AGAINST APPENDICITIS ATTACK

Appendicitis is an intestinal infection often due to old, retained waste matter. Even though bowels move daily, poisons may accumulate in the system for months. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-I-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and brings out matter which might start an appendicitis infection. EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach and chronic constipation. Adler-I-ka brings out matter which you never thought was in your system. Rowley Drug Co.—adv.

ask yourself;—
"What does the lowest bid COST?"
and not—
"What does the lowest bid save?"

In the construction game there is a very definite point at which a low bid becomes a costly temptation.

A real job should amount to the cost of all labor and materials, plus a gross profit, enough to take care of administration, supervision, overhead expenses and a reasonable net profit.

A bid for less than this means that the contractor is either going to lose money or slight the job. Usually the job suffers.

Unless the work is first class in every respect, it will give continual expense through the necessity of constant repairing.

Sometimes the low bidder does not pay his material bills and you pay double through annoying liens. Consider carefully the low bidder.

Greater Pulling Power, Faster Get-away,
Higher Speed for the Ford

UP the steepest grades, through the worst mud and sand, and stepping out in traffic, constitute three of the points where the Ruckstell equipped Ford outshines all others. Providing as it does, four gear changes in place of two, as in the Standard Ford, the driver is given a double range of speeds to choose from when conditions necessitate. Added to these features, is that of greater road speed, by the installation of our special 3 to 1 high speed gears, which combination gives 20% increase of speed, with no more engine revolutions than in Standard Ford. The saving thus effected is not only in actual cost of operation, but in lessened depreciation as well.

Any Ford dealer will gladly demonstrate this for you.

Greetings—

Once more we pass another milestone in the history of the world. Once more another year of progress—and what is of great importance to us, another year of progress here in Santa Ana and Orange County.

We face the next 365 days with an optimism that is certain to carry very much further in this progress and growth.

Let us then remember that our goal can only be reached through co-operation, a unity of purpose and brotherly love.

To you—our friends—we extend the greetings of the season!

NEWSIES READY FOR ANNUAL BANQUET

All the home-made cake you want?

When 200 or more boys gather tonight at 7 o'clock at the First Christian church for the Newsies' Third Annual banquet their eyes will hold grave competition with the stomachs at the sight of chicken, and sweet potatoes; salad, hot biscuits, ice cream, apples and many other things sounding just as nice and tasting better, such as home-made cake—all the home-made cake you want. That's a promise. Ask Mrs. W. B. Williams.

"A regular banquet has been prepared," said Mrs. Williams today, as she outlined the program. The Sunday school orchestra will play the opening march to bring the boys to table.

"There will be community singing to keep everybody happy and to give the boys some healthy outlet for their exuberance.

"Several whistling solos are on the musical program during the evening. The boys, I am sure, will enjoy them and probably aid the whistling.

"Mr. Edward J. Hummel will be the toastmaster, and also will sing a song, for the entertainment of the boys. Everything is ready to give the boys a thorough good time and a memorable banquet."

Mrs. T. D. Knights has charge of the service of the dinner. Mrs. Edward J. Hummel has prepared the musical program. Other numbers on this program include readings by Mrs. F. T. Porter; song by Mrs. Hummel; trombone solo by Mrs. Ethel Thompson; a whistling solo, and many volunteer numbers.

OPINION SPLIT ON PLANS FOR BROADWAY

erty at 2036 North Broadway, declared today that the improvement was one that should be made, in the interest of the city in general.

"I am ready to bear my proportion of whatever cost may be incurred in such a project," said Purinton. "I am willing that my holdings should be included in such district. I think we should not only form the district for the street opening but also for the installation of an ornamental lighting system."

L. A. West, attorney, who resides at 2114 North Broadway, said that the present is not the time for attempting the opening of the street. He is of the opinion that the cost of the bridge and right of way would be prohibitive.

Can See No Need
"I can see no need at this time for extension of the street," said the attorney. "I am not in favor of creating the district suggested. Cost of the project would be so enormous as to make it prohibitive."

H. J. Forgy, attorney, residing at 2107 North Broadway, is favorable to the district plan, provided the district is made large enough to include not only property that abuts on Broadway, but other property that will be benefited.

"If the district is made large enough to include that portion of all property that it benefited, including downtown business holdings, I am in favor of the project," said Forgy. "Personally, I do not want to see heavy traffic on Broadway for my home is on the street and the less traffic and noise we have the better I will like it."

"As I understand the purpose of the extension of the street to be to provide another highway into the city from the north, and for the benefit of the whole city, I would not oppose any movement that would produce the desired result, providing those who shared in the benefit helped to pay the costs."

START COOKING COURSE.
FULLERTON, Dec. 28.—On Wednesday, January 3, the home economics department, of the Fullerton Union high school, will start a course of twenty lessons on the study of food and cookery, budget and work routine. Those wishing to take the course will be enrolled and lessons will be given every Monday and Wednesday from 2 to 4 p. m.

this particular city. "The people of Santa Ana realize this, and are keeping this department working at top speed to keep up with their demands for improvements."

Knox has been city engineer for the past year. He has had nineteen years of engineering experience, ten of which have been in connection with municipal work. He was assistant city engineer of Salt Lake City for eight years, and for two years district engineer in the state roads department of Utah, with five counties under his jurisdiction.

AUTHORIZE $75,000 FULLERTON SCHOOLS

Plans, authorizing the expenditure of $75,000 for additions to high school buildings at Fullerton, were drawn up at the meeting this week of the board of trustees of the high school and junior college of that city. It is thought the additions will take care of the increase in enrollment the coming year.

The school architect was instructed to make preliminary plans at once for additions to the structures now known as the mathematics, history and languages, and English buildings.

Crowded conditions due to a large increase in enrollment from year to year have made imperative the building of additional class rooms, the board declared. Upon completion of plans for the additions work will begin on a building on the west end of the campus. This will add to the science departments and allow for the installation of new laboratory equipment. L. B. Stuart, S. C. Hartman, and W. J. Travers attended the meeting.

ORANGE COUNTY NEWS

LEMON CROP IS SOLD EARLY REPORTED

ORANGE, Dec. 28.—With checks
aggregating approximately $100-000 mailed out to growers during the holidays, the Villa Park Central Lemon association today had sounded a climax to one of its most successful seasons.

The checks representing the final payments on the 1922 crop were sent out for Christmas distribution to the members of the lemon association.

They indicated that net returns
would probably average between 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents per pound on the trees—comparing favorably with past seasons.

At the same time it became known that total returns on the 1922 crop would go above a half million dollars.

This would shatter last season's mark by almost $100,000,
it was indicated.

Meanwhile as growers fondle fat holiday checks and lemon plant officials look forward to another successful season next year, a perplexing problem which citrus authorities agree must be solved
forthwith looms on the horizon.

The problem, not only affecting this district but other districts as well, is labor. Hand in hand with it also goes the question of furnishing housing facilities for the workers.

Confronted with these difficulties
stockholders of the Villa Park Lemon association will gather at the plant offices January 17 for their annual meeting prepared to investigate a number of proposals
looking to solution of these questions.

Miss Helen McCoy, Brice McCoy
and Wallace McCoy, Westminster.
In the afternoon Mrs. Harry Hunt and children, Misses Helen and Dorothy, and Charles Hunt, of Anaheim, called, they having been presented to the family coming for the dinner by the illness of Mr. Hunt, who has been quite sick with the influenza.

Miss Henrietta Dickey arrived here Saturday and her mother came Monday in company with Wallace Dickey and family where she had been visiting. She had also visited Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dickey in Woodland and Miss Henrietta in Bakers-field before coming home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Price,
Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bon Durant, of Los Angeles, spent Wednesday
at the home of the former's brother, Henry Bon Durant.

ORANGE CROPS
YIELD WELL
THIS YEAR

ANAHEIM, Dec. 28.—A Christmas present of $274,240.04 was distributed to growers of the Anaheim Orange-Lemon association, covering the third and last pool of
the Valencia season, Manager G.
W. Sandilands revealed today.
The cash, received in plenty of time before the holiday, was doubly welcome.

Sandilands regards the showing as very creditable compared with houses elsewhere who didn't close up shipments so early.

The date of beginning of picking of navel on a scale has not yet been fixed, and cannot be until fruit measures up to the A-1 test in sweetness and market conditions are right.

The principal market factor is shipment of Florida oranges. Up to and including December 17, 44,
prising 360 boxes to the car, Florida
had shipped 30.6 per cent of a crop of 8,500,000 boxes, compared with 31.1 per cent of 7,300,000
boxes on the same date last year.

NO MORE WATER TO GO OUTSIDE ORANGE

ORANGE, Dec. 28.—Declaring that the facilities of the municipal water plant are being taxed to capacity, particularly during the long summer months between April and October, the city board at an adjourned regular meeting passed a resolution denying further permits for water service outside the city limits.

"It has been brought to the attention of the board that the capacity for pumping and storing water at the municipal plant has been reached and for that reason in our judgment the capacity to give adequate water service during the summer months already touches the margin of safety," declared a city official today.

"The board therefore has determined that it will be impossible to issue further permits to persons or corporations outside the city."

Aside from action of this problem, the board had little else of importance before it, most of its time being devoted to routine matters.

BOLSA

BOLSA, Dec. 28.—The pupils of Bolsa school gave a delightful entertainment at the beginning of the Christmas program. The Christmas tree was lighted. Then Santa came with his pack and remembered each pupil and some of the older people with candy and presents.

Louis Bauer is erecting two bungalows on his lots across from the school. One is nearing completion.

John Farnsworth will erect two bungalows on his land east of the school house.

Mrs. Mae Stroud has been quite ill at her home.

The E. A. Gardners and J. A.
Ross families had a Christmas tree at their respective homes Christmas eve. Santa visited the Ross tree in person, but didn't have time to visit the Gardner
home, so sent his presents to them.

Mrs. and Mrs. C. H. Chapman's home was the scene of a reunion of the relatives. The hostess served a sumptuous dinner. Those to partake beside the family were Mrs. D. S. Francisco of Orange, mother of the hostess; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Francisco and children of Hastings, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Francisco and children of Ukiah; Mr. and Mrs.
Whitney and children of Chino;
Mr. and Mrs. Will Marty and children of Santa Ana, and W. L.
Rossman of Buena Park.

The E. A. Gardner home was the scene of festivities Christmas day. Mrs. Gardner served the guests with a sumptuous turkey dinner. The evening was pleasant spent visiting and with music.

Covers were laid for the following: Mrs. Sarah Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gardner of Santa Ana,
E. G. Radford and children, Mr.
and Mrs. John Shutt, Jr., the host and hostess and children.

Mrs. J. A. Ross and daughter, Mrs. R. Richardson, gave a turkey dinner Christmas day. Those present to enjoy the turkey were: Mr.
and Mrs. Frank Walker and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ross and children Audrey and Cecil Coombs, J. A. Ross, R. Richardson and the hostesses.

hospital was here to take Christmas dinner with her parents, Mr.
and Mrs. H. Wulff.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dettenhaler of Hollywood and Carl Rasch of Venice were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rasch Christmas day.

Workmen are busy remodeling
and enlarging the house recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ellis who have gone to Anaheim.

Mrs. and Mrs. Wilson, daughters of Hemet, were Christmas guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sradown.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Starkey spent Christmas day at the home of Mrs.
J. H. Holman in Olive.

J. H. Morningstar returned from Fawnskin, Big Bear Lake, Tuesday afternoon after spending four days there.

Misses Lena and Pearl Reich
came up from San Diego Friday evening to spend the Christmas vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Reich.

Handy, left Friday evening for Laguna Beach to spend the Christmas vacation.

Mrs. Laura Ford and daughter Myrtle of San Diego are spending the Christmas vacation with relatives.

Friday afternoon the pupils of the school under the direction of the teachers gave a program.

L. D. Lee of Los Angeles came down Saturday to spend the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Elmer Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Searle and daughter, and Glenn Sinclair of Los Angeles, spent the week-end
at the Ray Billingsley home.

Sunday evening the Sunday school held their Christmas entertainment in the church which was filled to overflowing, although so many were busy making preparations for Monday.

"Your gun is empty, Beatrice,"
he told her quietly. He heard her sob, and he smiled a little, reassuringly. "Never mind and pray for a good voyage," advised. "We're going through."

The craft and its occupants were out of sight by the time Jeffery Neilson reached the river bank
with his rifle.

He made his way fast as he could toward the cabin. Sensing
the old man's distress, Ray straightened from his work at the sight of him.

The face before him was drawn
and white; but there was no time for questions. Hard hands seized his arm.

"Ray, do you know of a canoe anywhere up or down this river?"
"No! There isn't one that you could even dream about shooting those rapids in. Tell me what's the matter. Has Beatrice—"

"Beatrice has gone down, that's all."

"You don't mean—she's run away?"

"Don't be a fool. The prospector
I told you about—Darcy—was the old man's partner. He's paying us back. Ray, I wish to God I had died before I ever saw this day!"

Ray stared blankly. "Then he found out about the murder?" he gasped.

"Yes. Here's his letter."

Ray read the letter carefully,
crumpling it at last in savage wrath.

"He can't do much if the claim's recorded in our names!"

"He can make us plenty of trouble. If you want the girl, Ray—don't lose a minute. Put your things together as fast as you can."

They crossed the divide, thus reaching the headwaters of Poor Man's Creek; then took the trail down toward the settlements. But the two claim-jumpers had not yet learned all the day's ill-news. Halfway to the mouth of the stream
they met Chan Hemmway on his way back to the claim.

At the first sight of him, they could hardly believe their eyes. It was not to be credited that he had made the trip to Bradleyburg and back in the few days he had been absent.

BUNK IN OUR ROMANCES

There is a plaintive note often sounded by those who dwell upon the dim and distant things in California tradition. It is a favorite note, too, because it brings to mind the glories of a by-gone day, and snaps with intrigue. We find this note frequently in newspaper stories in which some wrinkled Indian or aged Mexican or Castilian's daughter, "once the belle of all California," as she always was, is interviewed in dreamy fashion.

There is always told in glowing terms the tale of the golden age of romance when everybody was happy, and herds roamed on lands that stretched from yon mountain to the sea, or "as far as the eye could reach." "And then the Gringos came." That sentence is always swung in, for it is always the Gringos who "stole the lands."

If one were to believe half of the tales that are told by the romancers in California history, he would be convinced that a large share of California has been stolen, not once but often.

As a matter of fact, these stories are made up almost wholly out of imaginations, sometimes out of the imagination of the wrinkled Indian, the aged Mexican or the former belle of California, sometimes out of the imagination of the writer of the tale. In the language of the twentieth century, these stories are bunk. They are nearly always full of inaccuracies and misconceptions.

Helen Hunt Jackson in her wonderful story, "Ramona," popularized the taking of lands by the Gringo, which was a term of contempt for the American, as a theme for fiction. "Ramona," to be sure, is founded largely on fact. The remnant of the Indians of California were shunted from place to place, to a certain extent. It should be remembered, however, that the lands to which they were relegated were considered of greater value a half century or sixty or seventy years ago than they are now. Even many of the pioneers of our own country settled upon similar lands, in mountains, that today stand deserted, and were at that time well satisfied with their properties.

But the Indian's real complaint ought not to be directed against the Gringo, but against those who first dispossessed the Indian.

The great land grants in this state date back to Spanish and Mexican administrations. It was under Mexican rule that the areas that had been used by the Franciscan padres for the use of their proteges, the California Indians, were taken from mission control and parcelled out not to Americans but to Spaniards and their descendants.

When the United States came into possession of California in 1847, a land commission was established and titles were adjudicated in accordance with the grants that had been made under Mexican rule. There was no other procedure possible at that time. Some of these properties were sold soon afterward, some were held for many years, some were divided through heirships under court orders. Sales were made, deeds recorded, and transfers accomplished just as legally in the 50's and 60's as they are made today. There is no reason to suppose that owners relinquished titles then for less than the lands were then worth.

For us, today, to drink in the romancer's tale of how the Gringos came and stole the lands is preposterous. For the most part, the dons who parted with their ranchos did so willingly. They were glad to get the Gringo's money. Because the don spent the money and left his descendants neither lands nor money is no reason why we should allow our love of a tale of an ancient glory that has faded to stand out against the facts as they are known to be, and it is no reason why we should accept the libel upon the American as truth when those who know California history know that the period of ruthless land-grabbing in California pre-dates the coming of the Gringos.

If the Indian found little land that he could call his own, the fault lay not so much with the Americans who found it necessary to recognize land titles as they found them as it did with the Spanish-Californians who had overlooked but little in the grants that they had made under Mexican rule.

BUDGETING BY DEGREES

Along about this time the average family makes its annual resolve to manage matters better next year, and there is much talk of budgeting. This is the story of a woman who had never been enthusiastic on the subject but became a budgeter by degrees. It is not a bad way to go about it if time or initiative is lacking to establish a complete budgetary system to start with.

This woman first became interested in systematic savings for special funds. Her first venture was a Christmas thrift club. She divided the amount she usually spent for gifts by 50, the number of weeks over which deposits are made in such a club, and began depositing the indicated stipend every week.

Saving for this objective came so easily that presently she began a vacation fund, and then one for every emergency purpose like doctors' bills, furniture replacement, gifts, and so on—a sort of general sinking fund. At first she gave no thought to the subject except to rejoice in knowing that when the special period or emergency arose, the money would be in the bank to meet the bills. But gradually she found that saving for these various items meant a little shading of immediate expenditures and she began a rough apportionment of her income solely with this in view.

Suddenly, as she worked on a plan for meeting the daily outlay and at the same time providing a sufficient savings margin for those to come, the great truth struck her that a properly constructed budget means not slavery but emancipation, and she set herself to study the subject in detail.

She keeps no petty cash account but lets the check book and the savings bank tell the tale. If anybody tried now to pry her loose from a budget system she would feel as if she were the children of Israel being turned back into Egypt after having been headed for the Promised Land.

IMMIGRATION REFORM

A critic of the present immigration laws calls attention to another case illustrating its crudeness. A few days ago, it appears, a Russian father and mother, who ordinarily would be entitled to admittance, were deported from Ellis Island because their baby happened to have been born in Constantinople, where the father was temporarily doing work for the American Y. M. C. A. The baby, under the law, was arbitrarily classed as "Turkish," and the Turkish quota happened to be filled, though the Russia quota was not.

Similar cases are said to be occurring right along. "We will never go back to free and unrestricted immigration," says this critic. "We still insist on strict limitation. But the provisions of the law must be sound. They must be based on a thorough understanding of the needs of our country and flexible enough to prevent the cruel and un-Christian acts perpetrated so frequently at our ports of entry."

He also wants careful physical and mental examination—not in our ports, but on the other side of the ocean, so that unfit applicants will never arrive. President Harding, in his last message, asked for the same thing.

Everybody who has studied the question seems to agree that the law should be revised, and made more scientific and less cruel, giving us immigrants of better quality but not relaxing the basic restriction that keeps down the quality. The sooner congress turns serious attention to this matter, the better for the country.

THE CHILDREN'S CITY

Singularly appropriate in location and nature was the opening of the school for Armenian orphans in Bethlehem, on Christmas day.

The school is to be operated by the Near East Relief Association, which already operates two orphanages in the same town. Even the three will be far from adequate to provide for the little ones left homeless and destitute in those regions.

The "Little Town of Bethlehem," of all the world, most fittingly might be the children's city, not only as a refuge for the homeless, but as a center for developing ideal plans for the health and happiness and education of all children. And, since in the education of coming generations lies the world's future hope of peace, from what more natural center such influences radiate than from the city of the Prince of Peace?

Hurrying Highway Work

Except for right-of-way difficulties on the Malibu and Palos Verdes ranches provision has been made for the construction of every mile of state highway between San Pedro and Oxnard by way of the coast.

The last contract between the Malibu line and Oxnard was awarded last week. Work has been in progress between Oxnard and Point Magu for several months, and the Magu cliff, most formidable obstruction on the entire line, will be conquered in the plans which are now under way. A shelf must be cut in a rocky precipice which rises in places as high as 250 feet, and which is more or less rugged for a distance of several miles.

On the Malibu property, controversy with the owners has caused delay, and condemnation proceedings are in court. In the meantime the state highway commission has entered the premises and actually begun construction, as a legal precaution.

The recent sale of the Palos Verdes holdings has developed a sense of uncertainty as to routes for the state road, but it is believed that this question will be speedily adjusted as the utilization of the great tract for residential purposes is proposed.

The state does not build streets in cities, and Santa Monica, Ocean Park, Venice, Redondo and other communities along the route of this coast boulevard must provide their own connections. There is no doubt, however, as to the general realization of the urgency and value of this improvement.

Less assurance is at hand as to the completion of the highway between Huntington Beach and San Juan Capistrano. The only contract that has been awarded south of Long Beach is that which will connect this city with Huntington Beach; and while that is important, the greatest benefit will come with a direct route to San Diego, and thence to the Imperial Valley.

It is evident that the Fletcher commission is doing everything possible to hurry the awarding of contracts before the Richardson regime comes into being, being aware, no doubt, that there will be an almost immediate change in the personnel of the highway board.

The governor-elect, however, is familiar with Long Beach and its position with reference to the state boulevard, and will certainly give friendly consideration to such plea as it may make for the completion of this most important of the newer roads in the California system.

The Geology of Politics

A geologic fact, determined aeons ago, affects the happiness of millions of men today. The fact that a slip of land occurred in one direction rather than another, that rocks of a certain thickness or hardness occurred at a certain point rather than a hundred miles away means the difference between the sea as human happiness or human misery.

Some men say that there is no such thing as "accident." And yet, here is an accident. It is an accident, to the people of the Balkans and to the people of Asia Minor, that the straits that separate them are but a few miles wide instead of a hundred miles wide. But this difference between an and a hundred miles is the difference between the political security of peoples and the continual terror in homes and in families throughout many hundreds of miles. It has meant the location of Byzantium, the building of Constantinople, the dominance of Stamboul.

Had Thrace and Anatolia been as far apart as are Italy and Africa or even as near together as are Britain and France, their political fate would have been much different. The political problem, that is, the Pasha is discussing with the Allies at Lausanne, would never have been raised, or raised, would have been easy of solution.

As it is, the Turks can think of each side of the Bosphorus and Dardanelles as touching each other for the Turks to step across. While the World powers can think of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles as separating Europe and Asia, and giving access for the untrammelled trade of the world to enter the Black Sea.

The waterway between southern Russia and the Mediterranean is not much wider than the Panama canal. But it is a natural waterway. It is an accident of ages ago, instead of being constructed by man.

New wars may be fought over this geologic difference, if conferences like that at Lausanne cannot be made a means of peace.

Why the World Has a Headache

Look Back in History

If you think that the problems of city life are new and peculiar to our generation, ponder this: In New York city, 117 years ago this month, the retail price of stove-wood soared to $21 a cord.

A great howl went up. Public and newspapers denounced the profiteers and demanded a return to the normal price of those times—$11.50 a cord. Think of this when you groan over the coal bill.

Prices during the Napoleonic wars, and later during the Civil War, soared to almost exactly the same average level as we Americans had in 1920 on the eve of the big crash.

Then, as now, many wise-heads insisted that "prices can never go back as low as they were."

Those generations back yonder at least didn't have to dodge autos? Worse still, judging from old accounts, were the galloping horses and wagons of bakers' boys and hucksters. The drivers were mostly wild young men, anxious to speed things up. And they were accustomed to climb down and beat up any pedestrians who objected to traffic hazards.

The Evening Post in 1805 called these dare-devil drivers "flying Mercuries," and recorded that—to strike terror into the hearts of people on foot—they delighted to crash around the corners of narrow streets, at a breakneck gallop, careening on two wheels and splashing mud.

Difficult to dodge your way across city streets now. But it is not much more than 100 years since hogs in great droves ran at large in New York city, upsetting pedestrians and swishing muddy water against fashionable ladies' skirts.

This state of affairs went unmoled until the swine took a fancy to lying around in Wall Street. Then the irate financiers rose up in their wrath and got action in the form of any ordinance against using the public highways for pastures.

You don't have to go back much further to find cities without sewage systems, all garbage and refuse dumped in the streets until rain swept it away. That's how the terrible plagues started. There was also a tax on windows, so high that the poor had to live in dark homes. Thugs had pretty much their own way, with few police. Fire was a constant peril, only a bucket brigade to fight it.

Since people first congregated in cities, they have howled and squirmed at the "awful conditions." These conditions are the penalty of city life. And conditions in most cities are likely to be at least five years ahead of what is being done to cope with them.

Worth While Verse

THE FAIRIES

The fairies have never a penny to spend,
They haven't a thing but by,
But theirs is the dower of birds and of flower,
And theirs are the earth and the sky.

And though you should live in a palace of gold
Or sleep in a dried-up ditch,
You could never be poor as the fairies are,
And never as rich.

Since ever and ever the world began
They have danced like a ribbon of flame,
They have sung their song through the centuries
long.

And yet it is never the same,
And though you be foolish or though you be wise,
With hair of silver or gold,
You could never be young as the fairies are,
And never as old.

Little Benny's

Sunday afternoon pop was reading the Sunday paper and he sed, I think I'll take a little wawk without a hat.

Without a waw? ma sed.

A hat, pop sed. I was jest reading an article by a doctor were it says there's only one cause of baldness, and that hats. It says if I no body wore hats all baldness would cease and I believe he's wite. My hair has bin getting intirely too thin on top to soot me and jest to prove I have the courage of my convictions I'm going to take a little wawk without a hat. If no body starts these things how are they ever going to get started? pop sed.

Well w'y should they? ma sed. I've bin explaining w'y for the last 5 minits, yee gods, pop sed. And he went down stairs and put on his overcoat but not his hat, me saying, Can I go with you, pop?

W'y not? pop sed. Meaning I could. Wich I did, putting on my overcoat and my hat too on account of my hair still being as thick as it ever was and maybe thicker, and Pops Simkins' father was jest going past, saying, Afternoon, Potts, haven't you forgotten something, such as a hat?

On the contrary, pop sed. And a little ways down the street Skinny Martins father went pas saying, Wats the idee, Potts, did you lose your hat? and pop sed, No, but you're going to lose your hair, wat there is of it.

You're going bug house, aint you? Mr. Martin sed. And me and pop kepp on waking, me saying, G, pop, did you see those 2 ladies tern erroud and look at you? and pop saying, They're not the first ladies that ever terned erroud to look at me, if I say so myself.

Wich jest then some man stuck his hed out of his parlor window and kepp it there looking after pop saying, Some men are born fools and some men have foolishness thrust upon them, but that fellows a downright ass. Wich jest then 3 gels started to tern erroud laffing like anything, pop saying O wats the use, I'm not going to be any free side show, this world is still in an unsivilized state.

CHINESE PHONES

Telephone service in China is confined almost exclusively to the principal cities. With the exception of a few short and scattered toll lines, there are practically no facilities for telephone intercommunication, so that the telephone exchanges in the cities are independent of each other. As regards ownership and operation, there are four distinct classes of exchanges in the country: (1) those owned by the central government at Peking; (2) those owned by the provincial governments; (3) those owned by private Chinese merchants; and (4) those owned by foreigners. Most of the systems are quite small, using a type of equipment that is considered altogether obsolete in other countries. The telephone system at Shanghai, however, is a rather striking exception. It is owned and operated by a private company, and its equipment and operating methods compare very favorably with the latest standards. It has about 15,000 telephones, which is about 20 per cent of all the telephones in China.

GREATNESS

New York Times

Three-quarters of a million members of the Epworth league have decided that Mr. Edison is the greatest man in all history. Theodore Roosevelt is second greatest and William Shakespeare third. Other successful candidates for the ten greatest men of all time ranked in the following order: Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, fourth; Alfred, Lord Tennyson, fifth; Herbert Hoover, sixth; Charles Dickens, seventh; John J. Pershing, eighth; David Lloyd George, ninth; Andrew J. Volstead, tenth.

No doubt there will be some merriment over this selection, but is it much worse than other lists of the greatest? Who is the greatest man in history? Conventionally, the answer is either Caesar or Napoleon. That occasional historian, H. G. Wells, blew off his choicest invective against these heroes. Most of his reasons for disliking Caesar and Napoleon would probably be shared by the Epworth league, however much that body might otherwise disagree with Mr. Wells. To each his own hero. Wells has six, not including Wells, of all but Aristotle and Buddha escape the memory. They were both heathen, and consequently unacceptable to the Epworth league.

Men of letters will snort at the literary members of this group—except Shakespeare, who was probably nominated to carry the rest of the ticket with him. Longfellow and Tennyson among the greatest men of all time! Where are Marcel Proust, James Joyce, Sherwood Anderson? The Epworth league runs to militant Christianity in its selections, but includes only one man renowned as a reformer—Mr. Volstead. What says the indignant socialist—the ten greatest men of history without Karl Marx? Mr. Volstead's reform covers about as much territory as Mr. Marx's reform. Now let the league pick out the ten worst men of history.

IN THE LONG AGO

From the Register Files

DECEMBER 28, 1908

Petitions are being circulated asking for the formation of a township at Newport Beach and Fairview, now included in Santa Ana township.

A. J. Perkins, who spent a month in Japan, read an interesting paper to the Monday club on his impressions of Japan.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Verne Bishop, a daughter.

The Rev. C. C. Secombe and his family have arrived here from Ontario, and the minister will at once assume his duties as pastor of the Congregational church.

Officers elected for Council No. 97, Church Fraternal, at the United Presbyterian church last evening are C. C. Collins, president; vice-president, W. R. Currie; secretary, J. E. Kellogg; treasurer, Mrs. Rosalind Ramsey.

Work is finished paving Main street from Second to Bishop.

C. W. Sheats and W. W. Chandler are making arrangements for the annual ball of Canton No. 18, I. O. O. F., on Washington's birthday.

Experts

Frank Laudenberger decided to save money by pulling his own teeth. They bury him at Columbia, Pa., dead from blood poisoning.

Did you ever ruin an article or botch a job by trying to do it yourself instead of summoning an expert? This is an age of specialists.

An old locksmith, asked to stemize a bill, did it this way: "To opening safe, $5. To knowing how to open it, $95.00."

Success has a hard time dodging the man who becomes an expert—in almost any line, from business doctor to machine operator.

Magic

In one night 92 American amateur radio operators send messages that are picked up in Europe.

Where is this wireless thing leading?

It eliminates distance, shortly will bring the whole world to every radio fan's door. Strange friendships start now, at vast distances, by radio. A common event, later.

Radio may be the greatest invention of our lifetime.

And So They Go

By Berton Bruley

Ten little motorists, driving down the line,

One hit a trolley car—then there were nine.

Nine little motorists monkeying with Fate,

One bumped a motor truck, then there were eight.

Eight little motorists trusting much in Heaven,

One tried to hog the road—then there were seven.

Seven little motorists trying clever tricks,

One met a railroad train—then there were six.

Six little motorists thought that they could drive,

One skidded off a bridge—then there were five.

Five little motorists speeding more and more,

One struck a Thank-you-ma'am—then there were four.

Four little motorists driving reckless,

One sassed a traffic cop—then there were three.

Three little motorists heaving into view,

One passed upon a curve—then there were two.

Two little motorists out to make a run,

One hit a granite wall—then there was one.

One little motorist packing quite a bun,

He's in a prison cell—so there was none!

Here is a history it is well to heed,

It has a moral he who drives may read!

Scripture

Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.—Matthew 4:4.

A wrathful man stirreth up strife, but he that is slow to anger resisteth strife.—Proverbs 15:1.

Adventures of the Twins

Jackie Mouse's Gold

By Olive Roberts Barton

The next person Dusty Coat, his little fairy sandman, sent to Dreamland was Jackie Jumping Mouse.

He was only as big as a medium sized pickle, but he looked and acted exactly like a kangaroo. His tail was long and thin, and his hind legs, like Kicky Kangaroo's, must have had regular springs in them.

But they found Jackie at last, all huddled up in his house under the sugar maple, looking all blue and pinched with the cold.

"Cub id!" he called when they rapped.

"Why, Jackie!" declared Nancy.

"You look dreadful! You've got a dreadful cold."

"I do!" blinked Jackie, wiping

his nose with a hanky he took out of his coat pocket. Oh, yes, he had on a nice red coat that the Brownies had made for him.

"It's by tail," he said. "I can't get a coat that will cover it and I always catch cold in it. There's do hair on it anyway. Brrrrrr!" And he shook like an eggbeater!

"I thought it was about time I was coming around!" declared Dusty Coat briskly, opening up his little brown bag with deft fingers.

"What you got there?" piped Jackie curiously, peering at it out of his little watery eyes.

"Magic—magic stuff, I call it," answered Dusty Coat with a wink at the twins. "It's good for a cold."

"Oh let be have sub, will you?" sniffled Jackie. "I—I'd take anything."

So Dusty Coat gave him a pinch and Jackie took a big sniff.

Soon he was snoring soundly and the twins tucked him into bed for the winter.

"Pleasant dreams," whispered Dusty Coat softly as they all tucked out.
